GREAT MEETING AT DELAWARE

The Campaign Opening in Every Way a Magnificent Success.

PRISONERS ARE PAROLED

A Number From This Section Conditionally Released—The Leetonia Works to Start As a Part of a Great Corporation—Capital Notes.

From a Staff Correspondent.
Columbus, Oct. 21.—The Republican opening at Delaware was a magnificent success. There was not one incident to detract from the occasion. The weather could not have been better. It was an ideal Republican day. The speakers were at their best. Foraker's words rang out with old-time vigor and aroused the greatest enthusiasm. "Uncle Mark" made a most effective address. He handed out large chunks of logic in his usual convincing way. The text of his message was the same as in the last campaign—"Let Well Enough Alone." His address was punctuated with heartiest applause. Governor Nash was well received. He looked robust and fully able to cope with the work of the conflict. Hon. Carl L. Nippert, of Cincinnati, candidate for lieutenant governor, made an excellent impression. His delivery is pleasing and left no doubt concerning his ability to preside over the Ohio senate in a graceful way. Delaware never before saw such a day. It marks an epoch in the town's history. The outpouring was immense, there being persons present from every corner of the state. Persons who have known Foraker, and watched his career for years say they never saw him at a better advantage. His oratory was superb—it swayed the multitude and moved it to tremendous demonstrations and gave the lie to the assertion that the senator's power and magnetism is on the wane. The meeting was, admittedly, the grandest Republican opening Ohio ever saw. Each speaker emphasized the point that Ohio should stand by the principles whose advocacy marked the life-work of the lamented McKinley, Ohio, of all states, should be the last to falter in this respect.

Governor Nash went to Delaware in a special car. Hon. I. B. Cameron was in his party. All were conveyed from the train in carriages. In the carriage containing Senator Foraker were State Treasurer Cameron, Auditor of State Guilbert and Secretary of State L. C. Laylin. Frank McCord, of Lisbon, district revenue collector, and James J. Fetzer, of Columbiana, well known in political circles, were among the throng. There was a large sprinkling of persons present from different parts of the Eighteenth district. The Ohio State Journal issued a souvenir edition that showed remarkable journalistic enterprise. The paper printed portraits and biographical sketches of men of affairs of Ohio. The likenesses of Hon. I. B. Cameron, Congressman R. W. Taylor and Hon. M. A. Morris, of Youngstown, were among those shown.

The Cherry Valley Iron company, a corporation organized under the laws of Pennsylvania with offices at Pittsburgh, as stated in Friday's News Review, has qualified to do business in Ohio with headquarters at Leetonia, Columbiana county. The capital stock is $350,000, which is divided into 3,500 shares of $100 each. The officers and agents in charge of the company's property in Ohio are J. W. Rhodes, R. W. Flenniken and L. W. Young, of Pittsburgh, and E. M. Peters of Leetonia. Mr. Peters is the superintendent of the plant at Leetonia. The gentlemen named, excepting Mr. Peters, with W. B. Rhodes, of Pittsburgh and E. N. Ohl, of New Castle, compose the directorate.

The incorporation papers specify that the company is authorized to exist for 100 years. The value of the Ohio plant is placed at $30,340. The proportion of capital stock of the company represented by property owned and used in the business transacted in Ohio is about one-half thereof.

The action of the company in qualifying to operate under the laws of Ohio undoubtedly means that the Leetonia plant is not to remain idle, which will be pleasing news to the people of that town, who have harbored fears for a long time concerning the future of the mill. Until about two years ago the plant was owned largely by Charles Smick, president of the First National bank, of Leetonia, when it was purchased by the trust. It was finally closed down.

Sheriff Noragon arrived here Saturday afternoon with John Tubbs, of Salem, and Charles White, of nowhere, who will serve terms in the penitentiary. The Salem lad, Andrew Hamacher, who was committed to the industrial home at Lancaster, the sheriff turned over for deliverance at that institution to a deputy sheriff of Cleveland, bound for Delaware, whom he met on the train. In this way the sheriff saved a trip. Hamacher's father is doing time in the penitentiary for an unnatural crime. Tubbs was sentenced for one year, but good behavior will obtain his release in 10 months. He shot and wounded a man who, he claimed, invaded the sanctity of his home. Sheriff Noragon asked Warden Darby to assign Tubbs to the painting force, he being a painter, and this will likely be done. White will serve 18 months. He was convicted of stealing $133 worth of jewelry and clothing from the residence of Al Lowden, in Hanover township.

The board of managers of the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield at the regular meeting paroled 37 prisoners and granted two absolute releases. Three Columbiana county lads were among those receiving clemency. They were Tony Kountzler, received May 9, 1900, for burglary and larceny; William Grooce, received July 7, 1900, for pocket picking, and Allen Ritchey, received Oct. 12, 1900, for burglary. Ritchey was released under certain conditions. Kountzler's home is in East Liverpool. All paroled prisoners are required to report regularly. Michael Nolan, of East Liverpool, it will be recalled, was returned to the institution a short time ago for violating the conditions of his parole. He had had several months of liberty. Liquor caused his return.

Deputy Factory and Building Inspector R. M. Hull, of Salineville, came here to confer with the state department. He left for home Friday night. He is approving appliances in his district and it will be some time yet before he will be able to give attention to his regular duties. Mr. Hull was anxious to get home in time to take part in a local bond issue question which was being voted upon by the people of Salineville. The proposition affects an expenditure of funds to provide for additional water facilities.

State Treasurer I. B. Cameron has returned from a brief visit at Lisbon. He is confident of Republican success throughout in Columbiana county and estimates that Columbiana county will give Governor Nash at least 3,000 plurality over Colonel Kilbourne.

E. C. Reynolds, whose home is in East Liverpool, on Saturday was released from the penitentiary upon completing a one-year sentence. He shot at a man in a quarrel, but the bullet went wide of the mark.

President Haskins, of the United Mine Workers, is at Salineville today trying to settle a controversy regarding the machine scale.

COURT HOUSE ON FIRE

EXCITING SUNDAY AFTERNOON AT THE COUNTY SEAT.

Defective Flue Sets Fire to the Probate Judge's Office—Damage Slight.

Lisbon, October 21.—(Special)—A defective flue in the barber shop under the county court house was the cause of much excitement Sunday afternoon. About 3 p. m. some one found that the court house was on fire. Nearly the whole town rushed to the scene.

The blaze, which was in the probate judge's office, was quickly under control, the Lisbon volunteer fire company doing efficient work. The damage will not amount to more than $200. No valuable books or records were destroyed.

In the barber shop, where the fire originated, the flue has been known for some time to be dangerous. The loss was fully covered by insurance.

The court house is insured in the following companies: Ohio Mutual, Germania, Scottish Union and National, Aetna, Columbiana County Mutual, Insurance Company of North America and the Loyal. The total insurance is $43,000. County Auditor Adams has notified agents of the fire.

Probate Judge J. C. Boone was in Salem when he heard the court house was burning. He got a swift team and drove to Lisbon in 45 minutes.

BLUE MONDAY FOR THREE MEN

Two Fighters Who Were Arrested Were Fined by His Honor, the Mayor.

OTHERS WERE IN TROUBLE

And Told Their Stories in Police Court—A Lively Time on Lower Broadway—Whisky And Cards in Evidence.

Two bottles of whisky, a pack of soiled cards and a pocketbook, the interior of which looked much as if it had seen better days, were lying on Mayor Davidson's desk this morning when he arrived at his office and removed his kid gloves preparatory to dispensing forthcoming justice. The collection represented the belongings of three unfortunates then in the city bastle awaiting an opportunity to tell their troubles.

Jerry McCormick was the first to tell how he came to stray from the straight and narrow path. He was arrested for intoxication last night by Officer Aufderheide. Jerry told the mayor he was on his way to a pottery to draw a kiln when he met some friends who offered him whisky. He said the temptation was irresistible and that the usual result followed—judicious imbibing. The mayor fined Jerry $1 and costs, which he paid.

Thomas Lisk and William McAbee pleaded guilty to intoxication and fighting. The unfortunates were arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Davidson and Special Officer Salisbury at the apartments on Broadway conducted by Estella Mear. Neither was much hurt, but the appearance of the police is said to have prevented a "rough house." The fact that no liquor was seen about the place at the time saved the proprietress from going along in the patrol with Lisk and McAbee to the cooler. This morning they were fined $5 and costs. Both made arrangements to pay up and were released.

John Davis was arrested Saturday night by Officer Morris for fighting in the Diamond. While the officer was arresting Davis the other fighter escaped. Davis was not the aggressor and for this reason the mayor allowed him to go on the payment of a fine of $3 and costs.

NEEDED TROUSERS

AND NAT WILLIAMS FORGED A CHECK TO GET THEM.

Signed the Name of His Employer to the Paper, But Was Soon Detected.

Nat Williams, the colored barber who formerly worked here, an account of whose arrest on the charge of forgery at Washington, Pa., was published in Saturday's News Review, will have his hearing in that city this afternoon. Concerning his arrest a Washington exchange says:

"Nat Williams, alias John A. Johnson, was arrested and charged before Squire D. M. Donehoo with the forgery of a $5 check. The information was made on the oath of Frank W. Streator, a clerk in the A. B. Caldwell company's store.

"It is alleged that Williams presented a check at the Caldwell store Wednesday afternoon and made a purchase of a pair of trousers. He gave the check and received in change $3. The check was made on the First National bank to the order of John A. Johnson, indorsed in the same name and signed by Chape C. Cooper, proprietor of the barber shop where Williams had been working. Later in the evening it was discovered that the check was worthless, and that Cooper's name had been forged.

"The alleged forger is an oily-tongued citizen of the smoothest kind, and objected very much to going to jail, saying that it was the first time he had ever been arrested. He spoke, as if from experience, of what he would have to endure behind the bars. Williams claims that his father keeps a lively stable at Lynchburg, Va., and is worth $10,000 or $12,000 and that he will be here to help him. He said that even if he did forge the check, his father would not allow him to 'go up' for a $5 note."

Lisbon Victorious.

Lisbon, October 21.—(Special)—The Lisbon foot ball team on Saturday defeated the Oriental association team, of Alliance, here, by a score of 33 to 0.

INSTANT DEATH ON THE RAILROAD

Young Civil Engineer Run Down and Killed by a C. & P. Freight.

SAW HIS PERIL TOO LATE

Riding With a Companion on a Speeder—His Friend Escaped, But His Foot Caught And He Was Ground to Pieces.

R. S. Shoemaker, aged 25 and single, a civil engineer in the employ of the C. & P., was ground to death under the wheels of a C. & P. freight, east bound, on a bridge near New Salisbury at about noon today.

Shoemaker boarded at the Hotel Metropole in Wellsville. With Eugene Galvin, of that city, he was riding on a "speeder" when a freight train, drawn by Engine 609, in charge of E. G. McKendry, was seen rapidly approaching.

Galvin jumped and escaped unhurt. Shoemaker tried to do likewise, but his foot caught, and he was hurled over the track. The train ran over him, horribly mangle his body. The speeder was badly wrecked. It is said the freight was running at the rate of 30 miles an hour.

The body was taken to Wellsville and will be sent this afternoon to Shoemaker's former home in College Corners, O.

Engineer McKendry, seen after the accident, said it was impossible to stop the train after the men were seen. He deeply deplores the accident.

SERIOUS WRECK

C. & P. FREIGHT TRAINS COLLIDED AT BAYARD.

Several Cars Derailed And a Coal Car Knocked Into Freight Station.

A bad wreck occurred at Bayard station on the C. & P. at a few minutes after 8 o'clock this morning. The crew of an east bound freight had orders to take siding and water at Bayard, and instead of complying, it is said, remained upon the main track. The west bound freight had the right of way and was running at a rapid rate. Just east of Bayard there is a sharp curve, and for this reason the two trains were very close to each other before any one knew of their proximity.

The engines came together directly opposite the depot and at least a dozen cars were derailed and several completely demolished. A coal car was knocked into the freight depot, demolishing the building so badly that the operator who was in the office on the second floor was unable to get out.

The crews of both trains had barely time to jump before the crash came, but all escaped uninjured.

Wreck trains from Alliance and Wellsville were summoned. Passenger traffic was not delayed.

THIEVES TUNNELED

GOT INTO THE CHICAGO POST-OFFICE AND STOLE $76,000.

Worked a Week at Their Task, Succeeded And Left No Clue.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—(Special)—Burglars made a big haul at the Chicago postoffice last night. It is estimated that $76,068 worth of stamps were taken. Ten thieves escaped and left no clue.

They entered the postoffice by means of a tunnel which it must have taken them at least a week to complete. The tunnel was run to the rear of the building and a hole was then drilled through the steel bottom of the wholesale stamp box.

HURT HIS FOOT

Mishap to a Boy Who Tried to Board a Moving Car.

The 12-year-old son of J. E. Anderson, of the East End, while attempting to board a street car near Columbian park this morning, received serious injuries to his right foot.

The boy caught hold of the car before it had stopped and the foot swung under the car. The wheel ran over the edge of Anderson's foot, mashing the toes severely. The nail was completely torn from the large toe and the one next to the little toe was broken. A physician was summoned and dressed the injury. The boy will lose none of his toes, but will be laid up for some time.

'SQUIRE NOT PAID

PERFORMED A MARRIAGE CEREMONY ON TICK.

Now He Finds No Way of Collecting. Interesting Story Developed.

Justice H. P. McCarron, a few days ago, performed the ceremony that united James A. Young, a Wellsville brakeman, and a young woman who came to this city from Altoona, Pa. The justice performed the marriage in his office, after arranging by telephone with the probate judge for the license.

Young told the magistrate that the woman whom he wished to wed had just come from Altoona to make her home with him. He claimed that her parents had recently died, leaving her alone and friendless, and that he was the only person in the world to whom she could look for assistance. Young made known to the justice that he was without money. Believing the man to be honorable in his intentions, the obliging 'squire agreed to pay for the license, marry the couple and take an order from Young on the Pennsylvania company, for whom he was then working.

At the time Young made out the order he requested that it not be presented for payment until after October 15. This was agreed to, but as nothing had been heard from Young up to last Saturday night the justice decided to go to Wellsville yesterday to investigate. He found that Young had left Wellsville soon after pay day, on October 8; that he had left without paying his board and that he had also overlooked to settle various obligations all over the city. The 'squire was also told that Young had been living with the woman from Altoona almost two months previous to his marriage. He was also informed that the Altoona woman was married once before. Her former husband was killed in a brawl at Altoona, and Young, who figured in the affray, had to flee from that city to avoid arrest.

The 'squire learned that Young had married the woman only to escape arrest in Wellsville. Soon after drawing his wages he disappeared and is now thought to be in Pittsburgh.

Justice McCarron has communicated with the officials of the Pennsylvania company in an effort to apprehend the absentee.

SPECIAL TRAIN

Will Likely Be Run to Alliance for the Foraker Meeting on October 24.

B. F. Sullivan, a prominent Republican of Alliance, arrived in the city today and distributed a quantity of advertising matter for the Foraker meeting which will take place at Alliance on the night of Oct. 24.

The meeting will be held in the erecting room of the famous Morgan Engineering company's works. Comfortable seats will be furnished for 10,000 people and an opportunity afforded for seeing one of the greatest manufacturing plants in the world. An effort is being made to have a special train run to Alliance from this city.

THREE BONES BROKEN

By a Club Descending From a Chestnut Tree on Webb Tullis' Hand.

Webb Tullis met with a very painful accident Saturday while chestnutting. The young man, with several companions, was throwing clubs into the tree when Tullis got too far under and was hit on the back of the hand by a descending club.

Three bones were broken and a very severe cut inflicted. Upon his return to the city a physician reduced the fracture and it will be some time before he is able to work.

Will Address a Meeting.

J. Q. Boring is in receipt of a communication from Max Hayes, secretary of the central labor body of Cleveland, announcing that he would be in East Liverpool this evening.

Mr. Hayes is a member of the so-called Labor party, and announces that he will address a meeting on the street here this evening.

MARRIED AT 14; NOW ASKS DIVORCE

A Wellsville Bride of Tender Years Tells a Tale of Alleged Cruelty.

WEDDED ONLY THREE YEARS

She Now Claims She Has Been Beaten And Abused at Divers Times—Defendant Enters a General Denial. Court Notes.

Lisbon, October 21.—(Special)—The case of Bessie Eva Warden against David A. Warden, of Wellsville, for divorce is on trial this afternoon. They were married at Irondale three years ago; the plaintiff then being but 14 years old. In her petition the young wife claims that her husband has cruelly abused her at various times and makes another serious charge. The action is brought by Sarah Rosenberger, next friend to the plaintiff, the latter being still a minor. The plaintiff enters a general denial. Harding Bailey, guardian of Eli Garretson, an imbecile of Salem, has sued Rachel and Frank Howard in common pleas court for $207.32, alleged to be due as purchase money on lot 442 in Street's fourth addition to Salem.

Jesse Fisher and Effie E. Allen, of East Liverpool; Charles C. Douglas, Wheeling, and Katharine Williams, of Gavers, have been licensed to marry.

M'KINLEY AVENUE

The Name Given an Important Thoroughfare on Pleasant Heights.

That portion of the county road which lies north of Pleasant Heights and on each side of which thoroughfare at least four new additions have been laid out, has been given the name of McKinley avenue.

The suggestion was made by ex-Councilman George W. Ashbaugh, of Roselawn place, and the residents living on the street are determined to make the avenue in every way worthy the name.

The additions which have been laid out along the street extend north for a distance of almost a mile, and are among the most desirable residence locations about the city. It is the intention of lot owners to have the main thoroughfare widened, and with the residences already there and many to be erected in the spring, the avenue will be among the most pleasant drives in the city.

NO CHARGE FILED

By Thompson Who Was Held Up—Officers Deny a Report.

Sidney Thompson, the traveling salesman, who was held up in this city a few weeks ago, has not yet preferred any charges against his assailant, though Officer Dawson knows the man who did the bold job.

A young man, soon after the holdup, accompanied Thompson to the city hall where Officers Dawson Aufderheide and Stoddard were found, and the following day reported that the officers, instead of patrolling their beats, were sitting by the fire reading papers. This is positively denied. Messrs. Aufderheide and Dawson called at the News Review office today and said that at the time Thompson appeared at the city hall they had just come off their beats and were about to go out again. Neither of them was reading papers and Thompson himself vouches for the officers' explanation.

WAGON SMASHED

Horses Attached Came Near Being Killed By a Street Car.

A meat wagon was demolished on Sixth street Saturday evening, and the horses which were hitched to the wagon narrowly escaped being run down by a street car.

The team was left standing near the curb and becoming frightened at an approaching street car, turned about abruptly. A front wheel was broken and the wagon otherwise damaged.

Newspaper Man's Death.

A telegram from Leavenworth, Kas., announces the death of Robert L. Decker, a former Steubenville printer and newspaper man. Mr. Decker was taken ill and taken to a hospital, where he died. His remains will be brought to Washington, Pa., for interment.

R. S. Shoemaker, aged 25 and single, a civil engineer in the employ of the C. & P., was ground to death under the wheels of a C. & P. freight, east bound, on a bridge near New Salisbury at about noon today.

Shoemaker boarded at the Hotel Metropole in Wellsville. With Eugene Galvin, of that city, he was riding on a "speeder" when a freight train, drawn by Engine 609, in charge of E. G. McKendry, was seen rapidly approaching.

Galvin jumped and escaped unhurt. Shoemaker tried to do likewise, but his foot caught, and he was hurled upon the track. The train ran over him, horribly mangle his body. The speeder was badly wrecked. It is said the freight was running at the rate of 30 miles an hour.

The body was taken to Wellsville and will be sent this afternoon to Shoemaker's former home in College Corners, O.

Engineer McKendry, seen after the accident, said it was impossible to stop the train after the men were seen. He deeply deprecates the accident.

SERIOUS WRECK

C. & P. FREIGHT TRAINS COLLIDED AT BAYARD.

Several Cars Derailed And a Coal Car Knocked Into Freight Station.

A bad wreck occurred at Bayard station on the C. & P. at a few minutes after 8 o'clock this morning. The crew of an east bound freight had orders to take siding and water at Bayard, and instead of complying, it is said, remained upon the main track. The west bound freight had the right of way and was running at a rapid rate. Just east of Bayard there is a sharp curve, and for this reason the two trains were very close to each other before any one knew of their proximity.

The engines came together directly opposite the depot and at least a dozen cars were derailed and several completely demolished. A coal car was knocked into the freight depot, demolishing the building so badly that the operator who was in the office on the second floor was unable to get out.

The crews of both trains had barely time to jump before the crash came, but all escaped uninjured.

Wreck trains from Alliance and Wellsville were summoned. Passenger traffic was not delayed.

THIEVES TUNNELED

GOT INTO THE CHICAGO POSTOFFICE AND STOLE $76,000.

Worked a Week at Their Task, Succeeded And Left No Clue.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—(Special)—Burglars made a big haul at the Chicago postoffice last night. It is estimated that $76,068 worth of stamps were taken. The thieves escaped and left no clue.

They entered the postoffice by means of a tunnel which it must have taken them at least a week to complete. The tunnel was run to the rear of the building and a hole was then drilled through the steel bottom of the wholesale stamp box.

HURT HIS FOOT

Mishap to a Boy Who Tried to Board a Moving Car.

The 12-year-old son of J. E. Anderson, of the East End, while attempting to board a street car near Columbian park this morning, received serious injuries to his right foot.

The boy caught hold of the car before it had stopped and the foot swung under the car. The wheel ran over the edge of Anderson's foot, mashing the toes severely. The nail was completely torn from the large toe and the one next to the little toe was broken. A physician was summoned and dressed the injury. The boy will lose none of his toes, but will be laid up for some time.

'SQUIRE NOT PAID

PERFORMED A MARRIAGE CEREMONY ON TICK.

Now He Finds No Way of Collecting. Interesting Story Developed.

Justice H. P. McCarron, a few days ago, performed the ceremony that united James A. Young, a Wellsville brakeman, and a young woman who came to this city from Altoona, Pa. The justice performed the marriage in his office, after arranging by telephone with the probate judge for the license.

Young told the magistrate that the woman whom he wished to wed had just come from Altoona to make her home with him. He claimed that her parents had recently died, leaving her alone and friendless, and that he was the only person in the world to whom she could look for assistance. Young made known to the justice that he was without money. Believing the man to be honorable in his intentions, the obliging 'squire agreed to pay for the license, marry the couple and take an order from Young on the Pennsylvania company, for whom he was then working.

At the time Young made out the order he requested that it not be presented for payment until after October 15. This was agreed to, but as nothing had been heard from Young up to last Saturday night the justice decided to go to Wellsville yesterday to investigate. He found that Young had left Wellsville soon after pay day, on October 8; that he had left without paying his board and that he had also overlooked to settle various obligations all over the city. The 'squire was also told that Young had been living with the woman from Altoona almost two months previous to his marriage. He was also informed that the Altoona woman was married once before. Her former husband was killed in a brawl at Altoona, and Young, who figured in the affray, had to flee from that city to avoid arrest.

The 'squire learned that Young had married the woman only to escape arrest in Wellsville. Soon after drawing his wages he disappeared and is now thought to be in Pittsburgh. Justice McCarron has communicated with the officials of the Pennsylvania company in an effort to apprehend the absentee.

SPECIAL TRAIN

Will Likely Be Run to Alliance for the Foraker Meeting on October 24.

B. F. Sullivan, a prominent Republican of Alliance, arrived in the city today and distributed a quantity of advertising matter for the Foraker meeting which will take place at Alliance on the night of Oct. 24.

The meeting will be held in the erecting room of the famous Morgan Engineering company's works. Comfortable seats will be furnished for 10,000 people and an opportunity afforded for seeing one of the greatest manufacturing plants in the world. An effort is being made to have a special train run to Alliance from this city.

THREE BONES BROKEN

By a Club Descending From a Chestnut Tree on Webb Tullis' Hand.

Webb Tullis met with a very painful accident Saturday while chestnuting. The young man, with several companions, was throwing clubs into the tree when Tullis got too far under and was hit on the back of the hand by a descending club.

Three bones were broken and a very severe cut inflicted. Upon his return to the city a physician reduced the fracture and it will be some time before he is able to work.

Will Address a Meeting.

J. Q. Boring is in receipt of a communication from Max Hayes, secretary of the central labor body of Cleveland, announcing that he would be in East Liverpool this evening.

Mr. Hayes is a member of the so-called Labor party, and announces that he will address a meeting on the street here this evening.

MARRIED AT 14; NOW ASKS DIVORCE

A Wellsville Bride of Tender Years Tells a Tale of Alleged Cruelty.

WEDDED ONLY THREE YEARS

She Now Claims She Has Been Beaten And Abused at Divers Times—Defendant Enters a General Denial. Court Notes.

Lisbon, October 21.—(Special)—

The case of Bessie Eva Warden against David A. Warden, of Wellsville, for divorce is on trial this afternoon. They were married at Irondale three years ago; the plaintiff then being but 14 years old. In her petition the young wife claims that her husband has cruelly abused her at various times and makes another serious charge. The action is brought by Sarah Rosenberger, next friend to the plaintiff, the latter being still a minor. The plaintiff enters a general denial.

Harding Bailey, guardian of Eli Garretson, an imbecile of Salem, has sued Rachel and Frank Howard in common pleas court for $207.32, alleged to be due as purchase money on lot 442 in Street's fourth addition to Salem.

Jesse Fisher and Effie E. Allen, of East Liverpool; Charles C. Douglas, Wheeling, and Katharine Williams, of Gavers, have been licensed to marry.

MCKINLEY AVENUE

The Name Given an Important Thoroughfare on Pleasant Heights.

That portion of the county road which lies north of Pleasant Heights and on each side of which thoroughfare at least four new additions have been laid out, has been given the name of McKinley avenue.

The suggestion was made by ex-Councilman George W. Ashbaugh, of Roselawn place, and the residents living on the street are determined to make the avenue in every way worthy the name.

The additions which have been laid out along the street extend north for a distance of almost a mile, and are among the most desirable residence locations about the city. It is the intention of lot owners to have the main thoroughfare widened, and with the residences already there and many to be erected in the spring, the avenue will be among the most pleasant drive-ways in the city.

NO CHARGE FILED

By Thompson Who Was Held Up—Officers Deny a Report.

Sidney Thompson, the traveling salesman, who was held up in this city a few weeks ago, has not yet preferred any charges against his assailant, though Officer Dawson knows the man who did the bold job.

A young man, soon after the holdup, accompanied Thompson to the city hall where Officers Dawson, Auderheide and Stoddard were found, and the following day reported that the officers, instead of patrolling their beats, were sitting by the fire reading papers. This is positively denied. Messrs. Auderheide and Dawson called at the News Review office today and said that at the time Thompson appeared at the city hall they had just come off their beats and were about to go out again. Neither of them was reading papers and Thompson himself vouches for the officers' explanation.

WAGON SMASHED

Horses Attached Came Near Being Killed By a Street Car.

A meat wagon was demolished on Sixth street Saturday evening, and the horses which were hitched to the wagon narrowly escaped being run down by a street car.

The team was left standing near the curb and becoming frightened at an approaching street car, turned about abruptly. A front wheel was broken and the wagon otherwise damaged.

TURNER SYSTEM OF GYMNASTICS

Proposed For the East Liverpool Public Schools Before the New Year.

PLANS FOR THE TURNFEST

Should the Meeting Be Held Here a Great Deal of Work Will Be Required to Fit Up the Grounds Suitable for the Various Events.

If the big meeting of Turners should come to East Liverpool next July, and indications certainly point that way, a vast amount of work will be necessary to place Columbian park in shape for the large number of events which will be held during the week.

When it is known that fully 300 gymnasts are expected to participate in the athletic sports, and in many instances the entire number take part in a single event, some idea can be gained as to the size of the arena or field which it will be necessary to provide.

Almost the entire space on the inside of the race track will be devoted to the exercises. It is estimated that 25,000 square feet, or a ground space 100x250 feet will be required to include all the drills and contests provided for the meeting. This area will be staked and enclosed, and after the enclosure has been scraped and leveled a roller will be put to work and the ground made as smooth as a floor.

One of the main features of the field meets of the Turners, and an event which is usually repeated several times during the turnfest, is a wand drill. The exercise is participated in by every gymnast in attendance, and is said to be one of the most attractive and interesting exhibitions in the entire list.

The exercise, to be executed properly, must be held after nightfall, and arrangements will be made to erect a sufficient number of arc lights about the field to permit a good view of the exhibition ground.

The regulation wand is nickel plated, 42 inches in length, 5-8 inches in diameter and must weigh five pounds. Each gymnast is attired in the customary gray suit of the Turner, and every movement is executed in unison and without a word of command.

If the meeting is held here the local society will open the games with the wand drill, and it will be repeated several times throughout the week.

Instructor Arnstein, of the East Liverpool society, has commenced a movement that will in all probability end in the Turner system of gymnastics being introduced in the public schools of the city. The gentleman will send out a circular letter to every teacher under the jurisdiction of the local board of education. His object is to get the sentiment of the teachers with reference to the physical as well as the mental culture of the pupils, and he expects favorable replies from almost the entire number.

Mr. Arnstein left at noon today for Pittsburg, where he will meet with the other instructors of the Pittsburg turnbesirk for the purpose of adopting rules and regulations to govern the coming contests.

DESIRES INFORMATION

Supt. Whitaker Trying to Find Relatives of Dead Buried in Old Cemetery.

The men who have been engaged in removing bodies from the old Sixth street cemetery, have ceased operations for a temporary period, but will start again next week. Supt. Whitaker is having trouble learning the whereabouts of relatives and friends of those whose remains are to be taken up and this is causing the delay in the work.

Among those whom Mr. Whitaker is trying to find are J. and S. Eardley, parents of Hattie and George Eardley, who were buried in 1884; friends or relatives of Margaret Hague, buried in 1882, and friends or relatives of Nancy Geddes, buried in 1864. Mr. Whitaker would also like to hear from the Catholic people of the city who have relatives or friends in the old cemetery.

CROSS STREETS

SHOULD BE IMPROVED WITH BRADSHAW AVENUE.

This Was the Decision Reached at the Meeting of Property Holders.

A large number of Bradshaw avenue property owners met last night at the home of U. G. King, together with Councilmen Bullock and Heddleston and Engineer Kelly. The meeting was held for the purpose of forming plans for the improvement of the street so as to decrease the cost as estimated by the engineer.

It was decided to make an endeavor to have some of the cross streets graded in order that the dirt taken from it could be used in making fills of Bradshaw avenue, which will figure largely in reducing the cost of the work. If this is done the owners of the property abutting on the other streets will be obliged to share in the assessments, which will divide up the expense that otherwise would fall on a comparatively few.

The resolution now before council will not be interfered with, but when the ordinance is introduced it will contain the numbers of all lots which will be assessed.

EAST END

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

Which Attracted Large Congregations to East End Churches Yesterday.

The communion service of the Second Presbyterian church Sunday was largely attended, both morning and evening. About the pulpit were large and beautiful chrysanthemums and other blossoms. Rev. N. M. Crowe preached two powerful sermons. In the morning his subject was "The Grace of Liberty." He took his text from II Cor. viii:9: "Ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich yet for your sakes He became poor that ye, through His poverty might become rich."

The pastor's theme elicited much commendation from the congregation. A collection for home missions was taken that amounted to a large sum. At the morning service the ordinance of baptism was administered.

At the Second United Presbyterian church Sunday Rev. J. R. Greene preached morning and evening. His sermon was exceedingly beautiful in thought and language. The church was decked with a profusion of flowers, there being geraniums, nasturtiums and chrysanthemums placed about the altar. The pastor spoke on the parable of the ten talents, and recited the scriptural narrative of Andrew finding Peter.

WILL COME TO NAUGHT

East End Petition For Free Delivery Not Now In Favor.

It is very likely that the petition for a mail carrier in the East End will come to naught. The petitioners, as a rule, did not understand that if the carrier service was adopted Station A. of the postoffice that is located on Mulberry street, would be abolished.

Persons outside of the carrier district, and there would be several hundred of them, would be obliged to call at the general postoffice down town for their mail. All East Enders and factories of that district could send a postoffice order only from the office down town. As a result of this view of the matter many signers are hurrying to get their signatures off the petition that was recently circulated.

BITTEN BY A DOG

Harry Smith, Aged 10, Attacked and Given Some Ugly Wounds.

Harry Smith, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Sue Smith, of St. George street, was badly bitten by a large dog near the Horace Mann school building Sunday afternoon. The lad was on the sidewalk with his own dog when a large brown dog bounded out of a yard and bit Harry on the back and shoulder, making some ugly lacerations of the flesh.

The boy was taken to Dr. Davis' office where the wounds were cauterized and dressed.

They Are Often Together These Days. They Work Havoc All Over the Country and in East Liverpool.

Weak, nervous, the digestion out of order. That is what ails a host of people. It comes about in this way. First from overwork or other causes, the nerves are burdened beyond endurance, nerve waste is not replaced, nerve force is weakened, then the stomach loses its nerve controlling power and indigestion follows with failing strength. When first Dr. A. W. Chase's nerve pills came to East Liverpool people could hardly be convinced that this great medicine would remove these troubles. Now it is an accepted fact because of their cure of very stubborn cases no other medicine would influence.

Mrs. Margaret Tracy, of 178 Seventh street, East Liverpool, O., says: "One of my family was very nervous. Subject to nervous spells. Weak and miserable. Could not sleep and the digestion was very poor. I asked the invalid to take Dr. A. W. Chase's nerve pills I got at Larkin's drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets. The result was splendid. The medicine built her up, enriched the blood, made the nerves strong, gave restful sleep and so strengthened the stomach that digestion is perfect. The old-time languid, played-out feeling has given place to one of strength and energy, and as a result we are more than pleased with the medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine company, Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

STEEPLE CLIMBER'S HEART

Post Mortem Developed That It Was Five Times the Normal Size.

Zanesville, October 21.—A post mortem examination of the remains of George V. Wing, of this city, who was the best known steeple climber in the United States, was held here Saturday evening. The examination was held in order to determine the exact size and location of the heart. The physicians have for years been aware of the fact that his heart was abnormally large, but they were surprised at what the autopsy revealed.

The doctors found that the heart was at least five times as large as the normal heart, or about the size of a beef's heart. The examining physicians all state that they never saw such an abnormally large heart, and that there is nowhere on record a case where the heart was as large as that of Mr. Wing's.

The size of the heart had caused the crowding out of its place of the left lung, the heart nearly filling the left side, and extending from three to four inches to the right of the middle of the breast bone.

Mr. Wing's death occurred on Friday in Wheeling as a result of injuries received while assisting in hanging a large sign.

Hunters' Close Call.

New Brighton, Oct. 21.—George Moorehouse and Harry Deitz, while hunting in a woods near this city, became separated. Moorehouse was wearing a fur cap and lying behind a stump with just his cap protruding above it when he heard a shot and away flew his headgear. Deitz had mistaken it for an animal and blazed away. Fortunately none of the shot hit Moorehouse, but both of the men were so frightened that they had to return home.

Foul Play the Verdict.

Coroner Campbell, Steubenville, filed an inquest Saturday in the case of the child that was found in the river at Bustard's. The coroner says the death of the babe was in all probability caused by violence, but when, where and by whom is unknown. The fact that the child had not received proper attention and the manner in which the body was disposed of clearly point to a case of infanticide.

C. & P. BRAKEMAN

IN SERIOUS CONDITION IN ALLIANCE HOSPITAL.

Attacked With a Club in the Hands of the Flagman of His Train.

Alliance, Oct. 21.—James G. Bailey, a Cleveland & Pittsburgh brakeman, is lying at the city hospital in a serious condition, the result of an attack made upon him early Saturday morning by a flagman named Steward, of the same train.

The affair occurred about 3 o'clock in the morning at the A. W. tower near Lima, and is said to have been caused by criticisms made by Steward, on the way Bailey performed his duties. As nearly as could be learned, Bailey started to climb into the cab of the engine and was struck by a club in the hands of Steward.

The injured man was brought to the city, given medical attention and later conveyed to the hospital. His injuries consist of a bad cut above the right eye, the blow causing it having cracked the skull. Bailey was formerly employed on the P. R. R. but recently came to the C. & P. division. His home is at Altoona, Pa.

Conductor Beatty who was in charge of the southbound freight, telegraphed to Wellsburg and secured two more brakemen, Steward not being allowed to continue the run.

HON. ISAAC B. CAMERON,

Republican Candidate For Re-Election as Treasurer of State.

Hon. Isaac B. Cameron of Lisbon, Columbiana county, now treasurer of state and a candidate for re-election, was born in Nairn, Scotland, being the youngest of six children. In his infancy his widowed mother removed to the United States, locating on a farm in Jefferson county a short distance south of Salmesville. Removing thence in 1855 to the village she there reared her children.

Mr. Cameron attended the public schools, and then took a business college course at Pittsburgh. He became bookkeeper for a local firm, remaining until 1874. His marked business ability soon advanced him to a partnership, and in 1880 he became the sole owner. In 1893 he was elected treasurer of Columbiana county by the largest majority ever given up to that time for any official. He was re-elected in 1895. In 1898 he was made receiver of the First National bank of Lisbon, then insolvent. He succeeded in fixing the responsibility for the failure, and although the books had been outrageously falsified, he obtained judgment in every suit brought by him to recover funds rightfully its property.

Mr. Cameron was nominated for state treasurer at the Republican state convention in Columbus, June 2, 1899, on the first ballot. He was elected in November by a large majority. Since his incumbency he has completely remodeled the interior of the office, and inaugurated a much improved system for expediting and safely conducting the vast amount of business of that department, which aggregates many millions of dollars in receipts and disbursements annually. He was renominated in June of this year by acclamation for a second term.

In politics he is a loyal Republican, and has always taken an active part in campaign work. He was made a member of his county central committee immediately after attaining his majority, and so well was his work done that he was next chosen chairman of the county executive committee, three times honored with re-election, and is now serving in that capacity. To his wise management is due the fact that there is no bickering and factional strife in that county of phenomenal Republican majorities. He was a member of the Republican state central committee in 1893, also a member of the congressional committee for the Eighteenth district in 1898 and 1899.

Mr. Cameron is a 32d degree Mason, a Knight Templar, an Odd Fellow, a Knight of Pythias, and an Elk. He was married in 1875 to Miss Laura A. Irwin of Cleveland. They have one child, a son, Roy Macdonald Cameron, born in 1883.

Cholera in India.

GREAT MEETING AT DELAWARE

The Campaign Opening in Every Way a Magnificent Success.

PRISONERS ARE PAROLED

A Number From This Section Conditionally Released—The Leetonia Works to Start As a Part of a Great Corporation—Capital Notes.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, Oct. 21.—The Republican opening at Delaware was a magnificent success. There was not one incident to detract from the occasion. The weather could not have been better. It was an ideal Republican day. The speakers were at their best. Foraker's words rang out with old-time vigor and aroused the greatest enthusiasm. "Uncle Mark" made a most effective address. He handed out large chunks of logic in his usual convincing way. The text of his message was the same as in the last campaign—"Let Well Enough Alone." His address was punctuated with heartiest applause. Governor Nash was well received. He looked robust and fully able to cope with the work of the conflict. Hon. Carl L. Nippert, of Cincinnati, candidate for lieutenant governor, made an excellent impression. His delivery is pleasing and left no doubt concerning his ability to preside over the Ohio senate in a graceful way.

Delaware never before saw such a day. It marks an epoch in the town's history. The outpouring was immense, there being persons present from every corner of the state. Persons who have known Foraker and watched his career for years say they never saw him at a better advantage. His oratory was superb—it swayed the multitude and moved it to tremendous demonstrations and gave the lie to the assertion that the senator's power and magnetism is on the wane. The meeting was, admittedly, the grandest Republican opening Ohio ever saw. Each speaker emphasized the point that Ohio should stand by the principles whose advocacy marked the life-work of the lamented McKinley, Ohio, of all states, should be the last to falter in this respect.

Governor Nash went to Delaware in a special car. Hon. I. B. Cameron was in his party. All were conveyed from the train in carriages. In the carriage containing Senator Foraker were State Treasurer Cameron, Auditor of State C. Guilbert and Secretary of State L. C. Laylin. Frank McCord, of Lisbon, district revenue collector, and James J. Fetzner, of Columbiana, well known in political circles, were among the throng. There was a large sprinkling of persons present from different parts of the Eighteenth district. The Ohio State Journal issued a souvenir edition that showed remarkable journalistic enterprise. The paper printed portraits and biographical sketches of men of affairs of Ohio. The likenesses of Hon. I. B. Cameron, Congressman R. W. Taylor and Hon. M. A. Morris, of Youngstown, were among those shown.

The Cherry Valley Iron company, a corporation organized under the laws of Pennsylvania with offices at Pittsburgh, as stated in Friday's News Review, has qualified to do business in Ohio with headquarters at Leetonia, Columbiana county. The capital stock is $350,000, which is divided into 3,500 shares of $100 each. The officers and agents in charge of the company's property in Ohio are J. W. Rhodes, R. W. Flenniken and L. W. Young, of Pittsburgh, and E. M. Peters of Leetonia. Mr. Peters is the superintendent of the plant at Leetonia. The gentlemen named, excepting Mr. Peters, with W. B. Rhodes, of Pittsburgh and E. N. Ohl, of New Castle, compose the directorate.

The incorporation papers specify that the company is authorized to exist for 100 years. The value of the Ohio plant is placed at $30,340. The proportion of capital stock of the company represented by property owned and used in the business transacted in Ohio is about one-half thereof.

The action of the company in qualifying to operate under the laws of Ohio undoubtedly means that the Leetonia plant is not to remain idle, which will be pleasing news to the people of that town, who have harbored fears for a long time concerning the future of the mill. Until about two years ago the plant was owned largely by Charles Smick, president of the First National bank, of Leetonia, when it was purchased by the trust. It was finally closed down.

Sheriff Noragon arrived here Saturday afternoon with John Tubbs, of Salem, and Charles White, of nowhere, who will serve terms in the penitentiary. The Salem lad, Andrew Hamacher, who was committed to the industrial home at Lancaster, the sheriff turned over for deliverance at that institution to a deputy sheriff of Cleveland, bound for Delaware, whom he met on the train. In this way the sheriff saved a trip. Hamacher's father is doing time in the penitentiary for an unnatural crime. Tubbs was sentenced for one year, but good behavior will obtain his release in 10 months. He shot and wounded a man who, he claimed, invaded the sanctity of his home. Sheriff Noragon asked Warden Darby to assign Tubbs to the painting force, he being a painter, and this will likely be done. White will serve 18 months. He was convicted of stealing $133 worth of jewelry and clothing from the residence of Al Lowden, in Hanover township.

The board of managers of the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield at the regular meeting paroled 37 prisoners and granted two absolute releases. Three Columbiana county lads were among those receiving clemency. They were Tony Kountzler, received May 9, 1900, for burglary and larceny; William Grooce, received July 7, 1900, for pocket picking, and Allen Ritchey, received Oct. 12, 1900, for burglary. Ritchey was released under certain conditions. Kountzler's home is in East Liverpool. All paroled prisoners are required to report regularly. Michael Nolan, of East Liverpool, it will be recalled, was returned to the institution a short time ago for violating the conditions of his parole. He had had several months of liberty. Liquor caused his return.

Deputy Factory and Building Inspector R. M. Hull, of Salineville, came here to confer with the state department. He left for home Friday night. He is approving appliances in his district and it will be some time yet before he will be able to give attention to his regular duties. Mr. Hull was anxious to get home in time to take part in a local bond issue question which was being voted upon by the people of Salineville. The proposition affects an expenditure of funds to provide for additional water facilities.

State Treasurer I. B. Cameron has returned from a brief visit at Lisbon. He is confident of Republican success throughout in Columbiana county and estimates that Columbiana county will give Governor Nash at least 3,000 plurality over Colonel Kilbourne.

E. C. Reynolds, whose home is in East Liverpool, on Saturday was released from the penitentiary upon completing a one-year sentence. He shot at a man in a quarrel, but the bullet went wide of the mark.

President Haskins, of the United Mine Workers, is at Salineville today trying to settle a controversy regarding the machine scale.

COURT HOUSE ON FIRE

EXCITING SUNDAY AFTERNOON AT THE COUNTY SEAT.

Defective Flue Sets Fire to the Probate Judge's Office—Damage Slight.

Lisbon, October 21.—(Special)—A defective flue in the barber shop under the county court house was the cause of much excitement Sunday afternoon. About 3 p. m. some one found that the court house was on fire. Nearly the whole town rushed to the scene.

The blaze, which was in the probate judge's office, was quickly under control, the Lisbon volunteer fire company doing efficient work. The damage will not amount to more than $200. No valuable books or records were destroyed.

In the barber shop, where the fire originated, the flue has been known for some time to be dangerous. The loss was fully covered by insurance.

The court house is insured in the following companies: Ohio Mutual, Germania, Scottish Union and National, Aetna, Columbiana County Mutual, Insurance Company of North America and the Loyal. The total insurance is $43,000. County Auditor Adams has notified agents of the fire.

Probate Judge J. C. Boone was in Salem when he heard the court house was burning. He got a swift team and drove to Lisbon in 45 minutes.

BLUE MONDAY FOR THREE MEN

Two Fighters Who Were Arrested Were Fined by His Honor, the Mayor.

OTHERS WERE IN TROUBLE

And Told Their Stories in Police Court—A Lively Time on Lower Broadway—Whisky And Cards in Evidence.

Two bottles of whisky, a pack of soiled cards and a pocketbook, the interior of which looked much as if it had seen better days, were lying on Mayor Davidson's desk this morning when he arrived at his office and removed his kid gloves preparatory to dispensing forthcoming justice. The collection represented the belongings of three unfortunates then in the city bastille awaiting an opportunity to tell their troubles.

Jerry McCormick was the first to tell how he came to stray from the straight and narrow path. He was arrested for intoxication last night by Officer Aufderheide. Jerry told the mayor he was on his way to a pottery to draw a kiln when he met some friends who offered him whisky. He said the temptation was irresistible and that the usual result followed—undisciplined imbibing. The mayor fined Jerry $1 and costs, which he paid.

Thomas Lisk and William McAbee pleaded guilty to intoxication and fighting. The unfortunates were arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Davidson and Special Officer Salisbury at the apartments on Broadway conducted by Estella Mear. Neither was much hurt, but the appearance of the police is said to have prevented a "rough house." The fact that no liquor was seen about the place at the time saved the proprietress from going along in the patrol with Lisk and McAbee to the cooler. This morning they were fined $5 and costs. Both made arrangements to pay up and were released.

John Davis was arrested Saturday night by Officer Morris for fighting in the Diamond. While the officer was arresting Davis the other fighter escaped. Davis was not the aggressor and for this reason the mayor allowed him to go on the payment of a fine of $3 and costs.

NEEDED TROUSERS

AND NAT WILLIAMS FORGED A CHECK TO GET THEM.

Signed the Name of His Employer to the Paper, But Was Soon Detected.

Nat Williams, the colored barber who formerly worked here, an account of whose arrest on the charge of forgery at Washington, Pa., was published in Saturday's News Review, will have his hearing in that city this afternoon. Concerning his arrest a Washington exchange says:

"Nat Williams, alias John A. Johnson, was arrested and charged before Squire D. M. Donehoo with the forgery of a $5 check. The information was made on the oath of Frank W. Streator, a clerk in the A. B. Caldwell company's store.

"It is alleged that Williams presented a check at the Caldwell store Wednesday afternoon and made a purchase of a pair of trousers. He gave the check and received in change $3. The check was made on the First National bank to the order of John A. Johnson, indorsed in the same name and signed by Chape C. Cooper, proprietor of the barber shop where Williams had been working. Later in the evening it was discovered that the check was worthless, and that Cooper's name had been forged.

"The alleged forger is an oily-tongued citizen of the smoothest kind, and objected very much to going to jail, saying that it was the first time he had ever been arrested. He spoke, as if from experience, of what he would have to endure behind the bars. Williams claims that his father keeps a livery stable at Lynchburg, Va., and is worth $10,000 or $12,000 and that he will be here to help him. He said that even if he did forge the check, his father would not allow him to 'go up' for a $5 note."

Lisbon Victorious.

Lisbon, October 21.—(Special)—The Lisbon foot ball team on Saturday defeated the Oriental association team, of Alliance, here, by a score of 33 to 0.

INSTANT DEATH ON THE RAILROAD

Young Civil Engineer Run Down and Killed by a C. & P. Freight.

SAW HIS PERIL TOO LATE

Riding With a Companion on a Speeder—His Friend Escaped, But His Foot Caught And He Was Ground to Pieces.

R. S. Shoemaker, aged 25 and single, a civil engineer in the employ of the C. & P., was ground to death under the wheels of a C. & P. freight, east bound, on a bridge near New Salisbury at about noon today.

Shoemaker boarded at the Hotel Metropole in Wellsville. With Eugene Galvin, of that city, he was riding on a "speeder" when a freight train, drawn by Engine 609, in charge of E. G. McKendry, was seen rapidly approaching.

Galvin jumped and escaped unhurt. Shoemaker tried to do likewise, but his foot caught, and he was hurled upon the track. The train ran over him, horribly mangleing his body. The speeder was badly wrecked. It is said the freight was running at the rate of 30 miles an hour.

The body was taken to Wellsville and will be sent this afternoon to Shoemaker's former home in College Corners, O.

Engineer McKendry, seen after the accident, said it was impossible to stop the train after the men were seen. He deeply deploras the accident.

SERIOUS WRECK

C. & P. FREIGHT TRAINS COLLIDED AT BAYARD.

Several Cars Derailed And a Coal Car Knocked Into Freight Station.

A bad wreck occurred at Bayard station on the C. & P. at a few minutes after 8 o'clock this morning. The crew of an east-bound freight had orders to take siding and water at Bayard, and instead of complying, it is said, remained upon the main track. The west-bound freight had the right of way and was running at a rapid rate. Just east of Bayard there is a sharp curve, and for this reason the two trains were very close to each other before any one knew of their proximity.

The engines came together directly opposite the depot and at least a dozen cars were derailed and several completely demolished. A coal car was knocked into the freight depot, demolishing the building so badly that the operator who was in the office on the second floor was unable to get out.

The crews of both trains had barely time to jump before the crash came, but all escaped uninjured.

Wreck trains from Alliance and Wellsville were summoned. Passenger traffic was not delayed.

THIEVES TUNNELED

GOT INTO THE CHICAGO POSTOFFICE AND STOLE $76,000.

Worked a Week at Their Task, Succeeded And Left No Clue.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—(Special)—Burglars made a big haul at the Chicago postoffice last night. It is estimated that $76,068 worth of stamps were taken. The thieves escaped and left no clue.

They entered the postoffice by means of a tunnel which it must have taken them at least a week to complete. The tunnel was run to the rear of the building and a hole was then drilled through the steel bottom of the wholesale stamp box.

HURT HIS FOOT

Mishap to a Boy Who Tried to Board a Moving Car.

The 12-year-old son of J. E. Anderson, of the East End, while attempting to board a street car near Columbian park this morning, received serious injuries to his right foot.

The boy caught hold of the car before it had stopped and the foot swung under the car. The wheel ran over the edge of Anderson's foot, mashing the toes severely. The nail was completely torn from the large toe and the one next to the little toe was broken.

A physician was summoned and dressed the injury. The boy will lose none of his toes, but will be laid up for some time.

'SQUIRE NOT PAID

PERFORMED A MARRIAGE CEREMONY ON TICK.

Now He Finds No Way of Collecting. Interesting Story Developed.

Justice H. P. McCarron, a few days ago, performed the ceremony that united James A. Young, a Wellsville brakeman, and a young woman who came to this city from Altoona, Pa. The justice performed the marriage in his office, after arranging by telephone with the probate judge for the license.

Young told the magistrate that the woman whom he wished to wed had just come from Altoona to make her home with him. He claimed that her parents had recently died, leaving her alone and friendless, and that he was the only person in the world to whom she could look for assistance. Young made known to the justice that he was without money. Believing the man to be honorable in his intentions, the obliging 'squire agreed to pay for the license, marry the couple and take an order from Young on the Pennsylvania company, for whom he was then working.

At the time Young made out the order he requested that it not be presented for payment until after October 15. This was agreed to, but as nothing had been heard from Young up to last Saturday night the justice decided to go to Wellsville yesterday to investigate. He found that Young had left Wellsville soon after pay day, on October 8; that he had left without paying his board and that he had also overlooked to settle various obligations all over the city. The 'squire was also told that Young had been living with the woman from Altoona almost two months previous to his marriage. He was also informed that the Altoona woman was married once before. Her former husband was killed in a brawl at Altoona, and Young, who figured in the affray, had to flee from that city to avoid arrest.

The 'squire learned that Young had married the woman only to escape arrest in Wellsville. Soon after drawing his wages he disappeared and is now thought to be in Pittsburg.

Justice McCarron has communicated with the officials of the Pennsylvania company in an effort to apprehend the absentee.

SPECIAL TRAIN

Will Likely Be Run to Alliance for the Foraker Meeting on October 24.

B. F. Sullivan, a prominent Republican of Alliance, arrived in the city today and distributed a quantity of advertising matter for the Foraker meeting which will take place at Alliance on the night of Oct. 24.

The meeting will be held in the erecting room of the famous Morgan Engineering company's works. Comfortable seats will be furnished for 10,000 people and an opportunity afforded for seeing one of the greatest manufacturing plants in the world. An effort is being made to have a special train run to Alliance from this city.

MARRIED AT 14; NOW ASKS DIVORCE

A Wellsville Bride of Tender Years Tells a Tale of Alleged Cruelty.

WEDDED ONLY THREE YEARS

She Now Claims She Has Been Beaten And Abused at Divers Times—Defendant Enters a General Denial. Court Notes.

Lisbon, October 21.—(Special)—

The case of Bessie Eva Warden against David A. Warden, of Wellsville, for divorce is on trial this afternoon. They were married at Irondale three years ago; the plaintiff then being but 14 years old. In her petition the young wife claims that her husband has cruelly abused her at various times and makes another serious charge. The action is brought by Sarah Rosenberger, next friend to the plaintiff, the latter being still a minor. The plaintiff enters a general denial. Harding Bailey, guardian of Eli Garretson, an imbecile of Salem, has sued Rachel and Frank Howard in common pleas court for $207.32, alleged to be due as purchase money on lot 442 in Street's fourth addition to Salem.

Jesse Fisher and Effie E. Allen, of East Liverpool; Charles C. Douglas, of Wheeling, and Katharine Williams, of Gavers, have been licensed to marry.

M'KINLEY AVENUE

The Name Given an Important Thoroughfare on Pleasant Heights.

That portion of the county road which lies north of Pleasant Heights and on each side of which thoroughfare at least four new additions have been laid out, has been given the name of McKinley avenue.

The suggestion was made by ex-Councilman George W. Ashbaugh, of Roselawn place, and the residents living on the street are determined to make the avenue in every way worthy the name.

The additions which have been laid out along the street extend north for a distance of almost a mile, and are among the most desirable residence locations about the city. It is the intention of lot owners to have the main thoroughfare widened, and with the residences already there and many to be erected in the spring, the avenue will be among the most pleasant drive-ways in the city.

NO CHARGE FILED

By Thompson Who Was Held Up—Officers Deny a Report.

Sidney Thompson, the traveling salesman, who was held up in this city a few weeks ago, has not yet preferred any charges against his assailant, though Officer Dawson knows the man who did the bold job.

A young man, soon after the holdup, accompanied Thompson to the city hall where Officers Dawson Aufderheide and Stoddard were found, and the following day reported that the officers, instead of patrolling their beats, were sitting by the fire reading papers. This is positively denied. Messrs. Aufderheide and Dawson called at the News Review office today and said that at the time Thompson appeared at the city hall they had just come off their beats and were about to go out again. Neither of them was reading papers and Thompson himself vouches for the officers' explanation.

WAGON SMASHED

Horses Attached Came Near Being Killed By a Street Car.

A meat wagon was demolished on Sixth street Saturday evening, and the horses which were hitched to the wagon narrowly escaped being run down by a street car.

The team was left standing near the curb and becoming frightened at an approaching street car, turned about abruptly. A front wheel was broken and the wagon otherwise damaged.

MAY RE-NAME CORAY

Pennsylvania Democratic Leaders to Consider Court's Adverse Decision.

PLAN DEPENDS ON LEGALITY.

Court Expected to File an Opinion Today—If Expelling Philadelphians Is Cause, This Has Been Overcome by Inviting Them to Participate.

Harrisburg, Oct. 21.—A conference of Democratic leaders will be held tonight at state headquarters in this city to determine what action shall be taken to fill the vacancy on the state ticket created by the decision of the Dauphin county court declaring invalid the nomination of Representative E. A. Coray, Jr., of Pittston, for state treasurer. State Chairman Cressy says the sentiment of the committee favors the renomination of Mr. Coray and that his name will again be placed on the ticket by the Democratic state committee at its meeting in this city on Tuesday if the members have positive assurance that their action is legal. The court is expected to file an opinion today giving his reason for rejecting Mr. Coray's nomination, and if the decision is based on the action of the committee in expelling the Philadelphia members at the meeting at which Mr. Coray was originally nominated then the state chairman thinks there can be no question as to the right of the committee to renominate him, since the deposed members have been given notice of the meeting and intend to be present and participate in its deliberations.

COWARDLY DYNAMITE OUTRAGE.

Attempt to Blow Up a Mine Superintendent and Family.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 21.—A dastardly attempt to blow up the house of Reese Morgan, superintendent of the Murray mine, and kill him and family was made last night. Mr. Morgan's home is on Grant street, one of the residential thoroughfares of this city. He attended services with his family at a nearby church early in the evening, returning leisurely with a neighbor shortly after 9 o'clock. He had just opened the gate to go into the house when a terrific explosion wrecked the rear of the house. The general supposition is that some mine employe who formerly worked for Mr. Morgan and who imagined he had a grievance is at the bottom of the plot. The police think several men were engaged in it, and that they watched for the return of Mr. Morgan from church, and just about the time they thought he would enter the house they exploded the dynamite.

FAMINE IN RUSSIA.

Seven More Districts Added to the Official List.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 5.—Acting upon additional information from the governor of the province of Samara, the minister of the interior has officially proclaimed famine conditions in five more districts in this province, namely, Samara district, Bogoulimsk, Mavonussensk, Nicolaevsk and Stavropol.

This means that the bad harvest has already made itself so keenly felt that a special medical and relief organization is deemed necessary for these districts. Forty thousand roubles were assigned.

EAST END

Which Attracted Large Congregations to East End Churches Yesterday.

The communion service of the Second Presbyterian church Sunday was largely attended, both morning and evening. About the pulpit were large and beautiful chrysanthemums and other blossoms. Rev. N. M. Crowe preached two powerful sermons. In the morning his subject was "The Grace of Liberty." He took his text from II Cor. viii-9: "Ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich yet for your sakes He became poor that ye, through His poverty might become rich."

The pastor's theme elicited much commendation from the congregation. A collection for home missions was taken that amounted to a large sum. At the morning service the ordinance of baptism was administered.

At the Second United Presbyterian church Sunday Rev. J. R. Greene preached morning and evening. His sermon was exceedingly beautiful in thought and language. The church was decked with a profusion of flowers, there being geraniums, nasturtiums and chrysanthemums placed about the altar. The pastor spoke on the parable of the ten talents, and recited the scriptural narrative of Andrew finding Peter.

WILL COME TO NAUGHT

East End Petition For Free Delivery Not Now In Favor.

It is very likely that the petition for a mail carrier in the East End will come to naught. The petitioners, as a rule, did not understand that if the carrier service was adopted Station A, of the postoffice that is located on Mulberry street, would be abolished.

Persons outside of the carrier district, and there would be several hundred of them, would be obliged to call at the general postoffice down town for their mail. All East Enders and factories of that district could send a postoffice order only from the office down town. As a result of this view of the matter many signers are hurrying to get their signatures off the petition that was recently circulated.

BITTEN BY A DOG

Harry Smith, Aged 10, Attacked and Given Some Ugly Wounds.

Harry Smith, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Sue Smith, of St. George street, was badly bitten by a large dog near the Horace Mann school building Sunday afternoon. The lad was on the sidewalk with his own dog when a large brown dog bounded out of a yard and bit Harry on the back and shoulder, making some ugly lacerations of the flesh.

The boy was taken to Dr. Davis' office where the wounds were cauterized and dressed.

East End's Rapid Growth.

The rapid growth of the East End is shown by the poll of votes that is being taken under the direction of the campaign workers. In Chaffinville

TWIN TROUBLES

They Are Often Together These Days. They Work Havoc All Over the Country and in East Liverpool.

Weak, nervous, the digestion out of order. That is what ails a host of people. It comes about in this way. First from overwork or other causes, the nerves are burdened beyond endurance, nerve waste is not replaced, nerve force is weakened, then the stomach loses its nerve controlling power and indigestion follows with failing strength. When first Dr. A. W. Chase's nerve pills came to East Liverpool people could hardly be convinced that this great medicine would remove these troubles. Now it is an accepted fact because of their cure of very stubborn cases no other medicine would influence.

Mrs. Margaret Tracy, of 178 Seventh street, East Liverpool, O., says: "One of my family was very nervous. Subject to nervous spells. Weak and miserable. Could not sleep and the digestion was very poor. I asked the invalid to take Dr. A. W. Chase's nerve pills I got at Larkin's drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets. The result was splendid. The medicine built her up, enriched the blood, made the nerves strong, gave restful sleep and so strengthened the stomach that digestion is perfect. The old-time languid, played-out feeling has given place to one of strength and energy, and as a result we are more than pleased with the medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine company, Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

His House Flooded.

At the residence of A. G. Chaffin on Erie street, yesterday morning the flushing tank that is connected with the water pipes broke and in a few moments a portion of his house was flooded. The damage done to plaster and furnishings of the house was extensive.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Justice Carman is moving into his new office on Mulberry street.

James Fulton's new two-story dwelling was commenced this morning on Erie street.

Misses Blanche and Maud Carman have returned from a visit with friends in Pittsburg.

STEEPLE CLIMBER'S HEART

Post Mortem Developed That It Was Five Times the Normal Size.

Zanesville, October 21.—A post mortem examination of the remains of George V. Wing, of this city, who was the best known steeple climber in the United States, was held here Saturday evening. The examination was held in order to determine the exact size and location of the heart. The physicians have for years been aware of the fact that his heart was abnormally large, but they were surprised at what the autopsy revealed.

The doctors found that the heart was at least five times as large as the normal heart, or about the size of a beef's heart. The examining physicians all state that they never saw such an abnormally large heart, and that there is nowhere on record a case where the heart was as large as that of Mr. Wing's.

The size of the heart had caused the crowding out of its place of the left lung, the heart nearly filling the left side, and extending from three to four inches to the right of the middle of the breast bone.

Mr. Wing's death occurred on Friday in Wheeling as a result of injuries received while assisting in hanging a large sign.

Hunters' Close Call.

New Brighton, Oct. 21.—George Moorehouse and Harry Deitz, while hunting in a woods near this city, became separated. Moorehouse was wearing a fur cap and lying behind a stump with just his cap protruding above it when he heard a shot and away flew his headgear. Deitz had mistaken it for an animal and blazed away. Fortunately none of the shot hit Moorehouse, but both of the men were so frightened that they had to return home.

Foul Play the Verdict.

Coroner Campbell, Steubenville, filed an inquest Saturday in the case of the child that was found in the river at Bustard's. The coroner says the death of the babe was in all probability caused by violence, but when, where and by whom is unknown. The fact that the child had not received proper attention and the manner in which the body was disposed of clearly point to a case of infanticide.

C. & P. BRAKEMAN

IN SERIOUS CONDITION IN ALLIANCE HOSPITAL.

Attacked With a Club in the Hands of the Flagman of His Train.

Alliance, Oct. 21.—James G. Bailey, a Cleveland & Pittsburg brakeman, is lying at the city hospital in a serious condition, the result of an attack made upon him early Saturday morning by a flagman named Steward, of the same train.

The affair occurred about 3 o'clock in the morning at the A. W. tower near Lima, and is said to have been caused by criticisms made by Steward, on the way Bailey performed his duties. As nearly as could be learned, Bailey started to climb into the cab of the engine and was struck by a club in the hands of Steward.

The injured man was brought to the city, given medical attention and later conveyed to the hospital. His injuries consist of a bad cut above the right eye, the blow causing it having cracked the skull. Bailey was formerly employed on the P. R. R. but recently came to the C. & P. division. His home is at Altoona, Pa.

Conductor Beatty who was in charge of the southbound freight, telegraphed to Wellsburg and secured two more brakemen, Steward not being allowed to continue the run.

HON. ISAAC B. CAMERON,

Republican Candidate For Re-Election as Treasurer of State.

Hon. Isaac B. Cameron of Lisbon, Columbiana county, now treasurer of state and a candidate for re-election; was born in Nairn, Scotland, being the youngest of six children. In his infancy his widowed mother removed to the United States, locating on a farm in Jefferson county a short distance south of Sainville. Removing thence in 1855 to the village she there reared her children.

Mr. Cameron attended the public schools, and then took a business college course at Pittsburg. He became bookkeeper for a local firm, remaining until 1874. His marked business ability soon advanced him to a partnership, and in 1880 he became the sole owner. In 1893 he was elected treasurer of Columbiana county by the largest majority ever given up to that time for any official. He was re-elected in 1895. In 1898 he was made receiver of the First National bank of Lisbon, then insolvent. He succeeded in fixing the responsibility for the failure, and although the books had been outrageously falsified, he obtained judgment in every suit brought by him to recover funds rightfully its property.

Mr. Cameron was nominated for state treasurer at the Republican state convention in Columbus, June 2, 1899, on the first ballot. He was elected in November by a large majority. Since his incumbency he has completely remodeled the interior of the office, and inaugurated a much improved system for expediting and safely conducting the vast amount of business of that department, which aggregates many millions of dollars in receipts and disbursements annually. He was re-nominated in June of this year by acclamation for a second term.

In politics he is a loyal Republican, and has always taken an active part in campaign work. He was made a member of his county central committee immediately after attaining his majority, and so well was his work done that he was next chosen chairman of the county executive committee, three times honored with re-election, and is now serving in that capacity. To his wise management is due the fact that there is no bickering and factional strife in that county of phenomenal Republican majorities. He was a member of the Republican state central committee in 1893, also a member of the congressional committee for the Eighteenth district in 1898 and 1899.

Mr. Cameron is a 32d degree Mason, a Knight Templar, an Odd Fellow, a Knight of Pythias, and an Elk. He was married in 1875 to Miss Laura A. Irwin of Cleveland. They have one child, a son, Roy Macdonald Cameron, born in 1883.

Comments in southern papers on the fact that President Roosevelt invited the eminent colored educator and philanthropist, Booker T. Washington, to sit at his table, show that a spirit survives which the country fondly hoped was dead. The president is roundly denounced for inviting a gentleman to dine with him, for the sole reason that the gentleman has the misfortune to be colored. There can be no question that Mr. Washington is a Christian and a scholar and that he is doing a greater work for millions of American citizens, than any other man in the south. This being the case, President Roosevelt deserves to be congratulated rather than condemned for his manliness in disregarding unreasonable prejudice and showing such a man honor. Without a doubt hundreds of men have been received and entertained at the White House that have not one-tenth of Mr. Washington's brains or worth. Measured by the standard of usefulness and worth, the colored educator is a citizen deserving of all honor. The president has made no error in making it plain to the country that manhood and not color is the test by which a man should be judged. Had he treated Booker T. Washington with disrespect, he would have proven himself unworthy of the high office he holds. Colonel Roosevelt has a mind of his own, and the southerner or the northerner who shall attempt to dictate to him whom he shall or shall not receive at his home will find himself engaged in a wearisome and thankless task.

The earnestness and enthusiasm displayed at the opening meeting of the Republican campaign on Saturday presage Republican victory. Better Republican speeches have seldom if ever been made in Ohio than those which were delivered by Foraker, Hanna, Nash and Nippert. If cogent and forcible reasons were needed why the voters of Ohio should elect the Republican ticket they are supplied in abundance in the words of these orators. The vital importance of the coming election is convincingly set forth. Not only are state issues involved, such as economy in expenditure, reduction of the state debt and reform in taxation, but there is a legislature to elect which will be called upon to choose a United States senator and also to reapportion the congressional districts of the state. The idea, which the Democrats seek to foster, that the election has no national importance is therefore misleading and absurd. There is not one good reason that can be advanced why the Republican ticket should not be supported and elected. It will be elected, and Republicans owe it to themselves, to the good name of their party, to see that it is elected by a magnificent majority. Such will be the result if every supporter of Republican principles works and votes as he should.

"It is a good rule in politics, as in everything else," says Senator Foraker, "to let well enough alone." The people of the state and nation are satisfied with the conditions that exist under Republican administration. No sound or valid argument can be advanced in favor of a change—least of all, of a change that would put the control of public affairs into the hands of a party whose record is one of incompetency and disaster.

The entire state debt, which was augmented by two years of Democratic misrule, will be wiped out in 1903, if the administration of Governor Nash is continued in power. This is a fact that the voters of the state will not lose sight of when they cast their ballots in November.

The Democrats who profess to desire a business-like state administration can never hope to get it by electing men of their own party to office. The whole Democratic record is one of failure to rise to the occasion when the party has a chance.

Two years ago Governor Nash was elected by a majority of 49,000. Republicanism must have been strengthened in Ohio in that time. Let us prove it by giving a greater majority for the state ticket this year.

Tom Johnson went to Delaware to see how a campaign is opened. He got an object lesson which he will try in vain to copy.

Those who are seeking pointers on the way to down a trust might obtain information from Casey, late of the copper trust.

The people of Ohio will not strike a blow at the policies which have brought them unprecedented prosperity.

Senator Hanna will not resign or do anything else to please Democrats. It is not his way.

AT THE THEATER

"A Man of Mystery," by Mark E. Swan, has been added to the repertoire of John A. Himmelman's big comedy company, "The Ideals," and will be produced during the engagement of the company in this city this week. It is one of the most peculiar dramatic stories ever written, and for two seasons was a marked success in all the larger cities. The main theme of the play is hypnotism, and it has all the intensity and strength of "Trilby," with none of the gruesomeness. Had it been fortunate enough to secure priority of production there is no doubt that it would have created even a greater sensation than this well known success.

TO DESERT NATIONAL LEAGUE.
Seven Philadelphia Players to Join American League.

BIG RAID ON NATIONAL.
Ban Johnson Claims 21 Players Have Been Corralled.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—President Ban Johnson last night definitely announced that the American league has already under contract 21 National league players, and that the number will be slightly increased before the beginning of next season.

President Johnson, however, would make no definite announcement as to the individual players included in the raid.

POTTERY NEWS

The Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company at New Castle has begun making clay and expects soon to have everything running, employing 125 to 150 men. The first kiln of ware was put in at the New Castle Pottery company's plant last week and the places are rapidly being filled, though there is a scarcity of skilled labor. Of the eight kilns proposed only six have been built. There are two double kilns for decorated ware in a separate building. The new six kiln pottery of the Shenango China company is being pushed to a finish, and will probably be ready to make clay in a few weeks. White granite will be the body produced. A number of potters have already arrived from Trenton, N. J., and Syracuse, N. Y., but there is still a scarcity of skilled men.

The first glost kiln was fired at the Bradshaw pottery, Niles, last week, and the results were very satisfactory. The buildings are all one-story and the plant is a model in every respect. There are four kilns, all of the down draft system. These are quite large, 20 feet each, one having a capacity of 300 dinner sets, and when the plant is on in full they expect to produce two glost kilns each week. Dinner ware will be the only kind produced, unless the firm decides to broaden out.

The Shenango pottery at New Castle, Pa., has the walls of the mould room completed and one kiln finished. Next week 15 bricklayers will begin work on the walls. The first kiln of saggars is going in now. The pottery will be ready to run before Christmas.

The new warehouse at the Dresden pottery has been completed and the building will be dedicated by a dance which will be given by the employees tomorrow night.

The Patterson Foundry and Machine company, of this city, furnished part of the machinery for the New Castle Pottery company's new plant.

Henry Hamill has resigned his position as messenger for the Western Union and accepted one in the packing shed at D. E. McNicol's.

John Monroe, formerly of East Liverpool, has charge of the mold making department at the new Shenango pottery at New Castle.

Local union No. 9, kilnhands, at their meeting Friday night initiated three new members and received one new application.

George W. West has returned from a western trip in the interests of the Vodrey pottery.

Charles Poulton has accepted a position sticking up at the Union.

MISSIONARY CONFERENCE.

Christian Church Mission Services at Piqua, O., Sunday.

Piqua, O., Oct. 21.—The sessions of the International Missionary conference of the Christian church Sunday were most interesting and instructive. The services began at sunrise with a prayer service. The second sermon was by Rev. S. O. Helfenstein, D. D., of Orangeport, N. Y., whose theme was "Man's Answer to Call, Here am I, Send Me." The theme discussed in the afternoon was "Obligations of School Missions," led by Rev. L. J. Aldrich, D. D., Educational Society of the Christian church.

The presidents and representatives of colleges made addresses. The pentecostal service last evening was in charge of Rev. J. P. Barrett, D. D., of Norfolk, Va.

The missionary board was empowered to select the place for the next meeting. The conference then adjourned.

Oil Land Deal Story Denied.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 21.—The published story of a gigantic oil and mineral land deal in the west, in which the United States Steel corporation is claimed to be a factor, is denied by T. E. Gibbon, vice president and general counsel for the Salt Lake, Los Angeles and San Pedro Railway company. Mr. Gibbon said the story was news to him and that it was purely imaginative.

MAY RE-NAME CORAY

Pennsylvania Democratic Leaders to Consider Court's Adverse Decision.

PLAN DEPENDS ON LEGALITY.

Court Expected to File an Opinion Today—If Expelling Philadelphians Is Cause, This Has Been Overcome by Inviting Them to Participate.

Harrisburg, Oct. 21.—A conference of Democratic leaders will be held tonight at state headquarters in this city to determine what action shall be taken to fill the vacancy on the state ticket created by the decision of the Dauphin county court declaring invalid the nomination of Representative E. A. Coray, Jr., of Pittston, for state treasurer. State Chairman Cressy says the sentiment of the committee favors the renomination of Mr. Coray and that his name will again be placed on the ticket by the Democratic state committee at its meeting in this city on Tuesday if the members have positive assurance that their action is legal. The court is expected to file an opinion today giving his reason for rejecting Mr. Coray's nomination, and if the decision is based on the action of the committee in expelling the Philadelphia members at the meeting at which Mr. Coray was originally nominated then the state chairman thinks there can be no question as to the right of the committee to renominate him, since the deposed members have been given notice of the meeting and intend to be present and participate in its deliberations.

COWARDLY DYNAMITE OUTRAGE.

Attempt to Blow Up a Mine Superintendent and Family.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 21.—A dastardly attempt to blow up the house of Reese Morgan, superintendent of the Murray mine, and kill him and family was made last night. Mr. Morgan's home is on Grant street, one of the residential thoroughfares of this city. He attended services with his family at a nearby church early in the evening, returning leisurely with a neighbor shortly after 9 o'clock. He had just opened the gate to go into the house when a terrific explosion wrecked the rear of the house. The general supposition is that some mine employe who formerly worked for Mr. Morgan and who imagined he had a grievance is at the bottom of the plot. The police think several men were engaged in it, and that they watched for the return of Mr. Morgan from church, and just about the time they thought he would enter the house they exploded the dynamite.

A $2,500 BLAZE SUNDAY MORNING

Small Building Destroyed Together With Some Very Valuable Machinery.

BIG STRUCTURE ESCAPED

A Fire That Was Costly Broke Out at the Chester Mill At an Early Hour Yesterday Morning — The Cause Not Known.

A fire did about $2,500 worth of damage Sunday morning at the Chester tin plate mill. It broke out about 1 o'clock. No one was on the premises except George Hardman, the watchman. He had made his rounds and found nothing wrong a few minutes prior to the blaze which consumed a small frame building, located on the east side of the plant.

In a very few minutes the building and contents were destroyed. Fortunately the fire did not spread to the large building that is not over 40 feet to the west. It was an inexpensive frame building, but in it was stored two dynamos, a quantity of wire and other supplies that were to be used in the electrical department.

The loss is estimated to be from $2,500 to $3,000.

Aside from the property belonging to the mill people, about $12 worth of tools, belonging to Edward Pauley were burned.

FELL FROM A SCAFFOLD

Workman at the Tin Mill Lost His Balance And Tumbled 40 Feet.

Joe Snellgrove, an employee of the American Bridge company, now constructing an addition to the tin mill in Chester, had a narrow escape from death Saturday afternoon. He was working on a scaffold 40 feet in the air when he lost his balance and fell backward, narrowly missing an iron obstruction on his descent.

The injuries received are not serious and speedy recovery is looked for.

FINAL PAPERS

WILL BE TAKEN OUT BY FOREIGNERS HERE.

In Case the Required Number Can Be Secured Judge Boone Will Do the Rest.

Chief Thompson and City Clerk Hanley have been approached quite frequently of late by parties of foreign birth who are desirous of taking out their naturalization papers.

By proceeding in the regular way and making a trip to the county seat they are put to considerable expense, and they desired to know whether there was not some other manner in which they could go through the proper form without the expense and trouble of a journey to the office of Probate Judge Boone.

The local officials, after investigating, learned that provided there were ten or more men in this vicinity desirous of taking out papers the probate judge would come here and do the work. Chief Thompson now has the names of six men, and hopes to secure the remainder this week. Any one desiring to secure either first or second papers may report to the chief at any time during the present week and thus have the assurance of a vote at the coming election.

Against the Proposition for Paving Maple Alley From Third to Ninth.

The city council last week passed an ordinance providing that Maple alley extending from Third to Ninth streets be paved. Some of the property owners adjoining the alley have objected and have presented a petition to each owner for signature. The petition has been signed by nearly all of them and is a protest against the proposed paving.

At the next meeting of the council the petition will be read and probably acted upon.

THE MAILS ARE SWIFTER

It Required 26 Hours for a Telegraph Message From Beaver Falls to Reach Here.

It has been recently mentioned in the columns of this paper that the Postal Telegraph company would perhaps soon establish an office in East Liverpool. The Western Union has been trying, since the announcement was made, to convince the public that it was giving a service that left nothing to be desired. It is time and labor wasted, for every person who has occasion for much telegraph business knows that East Liverpool in that respect is far behind scores of towns of not half its population.

To say nothing of the fact that there is no uptown telegraph office and that messenger boys can seldom be had when wanted, there are vexatious delays constantly occurring.

During the past week a young man, who works in one of the potteries of this city, received a telegram from Beaver Falls announcing a death. The message was sent out of Beaver Falls one evening and the young man received it the next, about 26 hours after the message had been filed. That is to say, the Western Union succeeded in sending that message at a rate of a trifle over a mile an hour. He expressed regret that his friends had not communicated with him by mail, as the mails are so much swifter and more reliable.

Where the Postal and Western Union compete there is generally something decent in the way of a telegraph service. Either company will send or deliver a message promptly as a matter of business enterprise. They maintain uptown offices and night service and their patrons have some assurance that their wants will receive attention. There is small likelihood of any such reforms here until there is competition in the business.

NO NEWS OF MISS STONE.

U. S. Legation Had None From Haskell or Baird—Efforts Now on Bulgarian Side.

Constantinople, Oct. 21.—The United States legation in Constantinople is still without definite news from either the Rev. S. H. C. Haskell or the Rev. J. W. Baird, of the Congregational mission at Samakov, Bulgaria, who have been endeavoring to get in touch with the abductors of Miss Ellen M. Stone, the missionary, and Mme. Tsilka, her companion, with a view of arranging as to the ransom demanded by the brigands.

Mr. Baird, who was at Djumabalo, has returned to Samakov, indicating his failure to get into touch with the brigands from the Turkish side. All efforts will now be concentrated on the Bulgarian side.

PAN-AMERICAN DELEGATES.

They Took In Sights at the Mexican Capital.

Mexico City, Oct. 21.—The Pan-American delegates passed Sunday out of doors in the bright Mexican sunshine and taking in sights of the city.

The delegates will visit the quarters of the general secretaries of the conference this morning, inscribing their names and addresses. In the afternoon they will hold an informal meeting to make preliminary arrangements, but will not meet for a formal inaugural session until 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when Minister of Foreign Relations Ignacio Mariscal will preside, delivering an address of welcome. He will then ask the delegates to name an acting chairman to preside at the meetings, in which the delegates will discuss rules and regulations.

There is some opposition to making all the sessions secret, it being urged that the conference can go into secret session when matters to be discussed shall demand it.

Tomorrow night all the delegates and their families will be entertained at the presidential departments at the National palace to witness the fireworks and illuminations and to listen to a serenade by the military bands.

Two rooms have been set apart in the palace and handsomely furnished for the use of the bureau of American republics.

CITY OF CLEVELAND STRUCK ROCK DURING FOG.

Detroit, Oct. 21.—The passenger steamer City of Cleveland, of the Detroit and Cleveland line, ran on a rock during a heavy fog, east of Ballards reef, and stove a large hole in her bottom amidships. The water rushed in with great force and the steamer gradually filled until she rested on bottom, with, however, her main deck still above water. The shock was so slight that none of the 40 passengers who were asleep in their berths were awakened and there was no alarm. Many of them did not know of the accident until they were aroused to get aboard the steamer Newsboy and proceed to Detroit where they were landed.

Chaplain Suicided Through Dementia.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 21.—The body of the Rev. Henry Black, for some time chaplain of the British second-class cruiser Charvillat, who mysteriously disappeared from St. Johns last Wednesday, was found near St. Johns, shot through the head. In the right hand of the dead man was a revolver. He had evidently committed suicide in consequence of dementia, attributed to the excitement growing out of the arrangements for the forthcoming visit of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York.

CUBAN IMPORTS DECREASED.

Exports Increased In 10 Months Up to April 30.

Washington, Oct. 21.—A comparative statement of the commerce of the island of Cuba for the 10 months ended April 30, 1901 and 1900, has been prepared in the division of insular affairs of the war department. It shows that the total value of merchandise imported during the 10 months ended April 30, 1901, was $54,412,262, against $59,925,339 for the same period of 1900. The total value of merchandise exported during the 10 months ended April, 1901, was $49,987,117, against $35,404,421 for the same period of 1900, a decrease of 9 2-10 per cent in the value of imports and an increase of 41 2-10 per cent in the value of exports. Gold and silver was imported during the 10 months ended April, 1901, to the value of $774,602; same period of 1900, $5,105,287; exported during the 10 months, $992,836, and for the same period of 1900, $3,299,553.

FIGHT ON FEDERAL JUDGES.

One to Be Begun by Chicago Federation of Labor.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The Chicago Federation of Labor last night enlisted in the cause of the Allis-Chalmers machinist strike and decided to fight Judge Kohlsaat's injunction through the courts. The Federation also decided not only to secure able lawyers for the legal struggle, but began a crusade against federal judges, whose actions they resent. The speakers were bitter in their denunciations.

It was decided to request every Illinois congressman and both senators to petition congress to curtail the powers of the federal judges.

His Reform.

Lady—What is the matter with my husband?
Doctor—I cannot be sure yet. Have you noticed him doing anything unusual lately?

"Let me see. Well, last evening, instead of lighting his cigar the moment he left the table, he walked into the library and put on his smoking jacket, smoking cap and slippers before beginning to smoke."

"Hum! My, my!"
"And later on, when he wrote a letter, he wiped the pen on a penwiper."
"Horror! It's paresis!"—New York Weekly.

Comments in southern papers on the fact that President Roosevelt invited the eminent colored educator and philanthropist, Booker T. Washington, to sit at his table, show that a spirit survives which the country fondly hoped was dead. The president is roundly denounced for inviting a gentleman to dine with him, for the sole reason that the gentleman has the misfortune to be colored. There can be no question that Mr. Washington is a Christian and a scholar and that he is doing a greater work for millions of American citizens, than any other man in the south. This being the case, President Roosevelt deserves to be congratulated rather than condemned for his manliness in disregarding unreasonable prejudice and showing such a man honor. Without a doubt hundreds of men have been received and entertained at the White House that have not one-tenth of Mr. Washington's brains or worth. Measured by the standard of usefulness and worth, the colored educator is a citizen deserving of all honor. The president has made no error in making it plain to the country that manhood and not color is the test by which a man should be judged. Had he treated Booker T. Washington with disrespect, he would have proven himself unworthy of the high office he holds. Colonel Roosevelt has a mind of his own, and the southerner or the northerner who shall attempt to dictate to him whom he shall or shall not receive at his home will find himself engaged in a wearisome and thankless task.

The earnestness and enthusiasm displayed at the opening meeting of the Republican campaign on Saturday presage Republican victory. Better Republican speeches have seldom if ever been made in Ohio than those which were delivered by Foraker, Hanna, Nash and Nippert. If cogent and forcible reasons were needed why the voters of Ohio should elect the Republican ticket they are supplied in abundance in the words of these orators. The vital importance of the coming election is convincingly set forth. Not only are state issues involved, such as economy in expenditure, reduction of the state debt and reform in taxation, but there is a legislature to elect which will be called upon to choose a United States senator and also to reapportion the congressional districts of the state. The idea, which the Democrats seek to foster, that the election has no national importance is therefore misleading and absurd. There is not one good reason that can be advanced why the Republican ticket should not be supported and elected. It will be elected, and Republicans owe it to themselves, to the good name of their party, to see that it is elected by a magnificent majority. Such will be the result if every supporter of Republican principles works and votes as he should.

"It is a good rule in politics, as in everything else," says Senator Foraker, "to let well enough alone." The people of the state and nation are satisfied with the conditions that exist under Republican administration. No sound or valid argument can be advanced in favor of a change—least of all, of a change that would put the control of public affairs into the hands of a party whose record is one of incompetency and disaster.

The entire state debt, which was augmented by two years of Democratic misrule, will be wiped out in 1903, if the administration of Governor Nash is continued in power. This is a fact that the voters of the state will not lose sight of when they cast their ballots in November.

The Democrats who profess to desire a business-like state administration can never hope to get it by electing men of their own party to office. The whole Democratic record is one of failure to rise to the occasion when the party has a chance.

Two years ago Governor Nash was elected by a majority of 49,000. Republicanism must have been strengthened in Ohio in that time. Let us prove it by giving a greater majority for the state ticket this year.

Tom Johnson went to Delaware to see how a campaign is opened. He got an object lesson which he will try in vain to copy.

Those who are seeking pointers on the way to down a trust might obtain information from Casey, late of the copper trust.

The people of Ohio will not strike a blow at the policies which have brought them unprecedented prosperity.

Senator Hanna will not resign or do anything else to please Democrats. It is not his way.

AT THE THEATER

"A Man of Mystery," by Mark E. Swan, has been added to the repertoire of John A. Himmelein's big comedy company, "The Ideals," and will be produced during the engagement of the company in this city this week. It is one of the most peculiar dramatic stories ever written, and for two seasons was a marked success in all the larger cities. The main theme of the play is hypnotism, and it has all the intensity and strength of "Tribes," with none of the gruesomeness. Had it been fortunate enough to secure priority of production there is no doubt that it would have created even a greater sensation than this well known success.

President Johnson, however, would make no definite announcement as to the individual players included in the raid.

POTTERY NEWS

The Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company at New Castle has begun making clay and expects soon to have everything running, employing 125 to 150 men. The first kiln of ware was put in at the New Castle Pottery company's plant last week and the places are rapidly being filled, though there is a scarcity of skilled labor. Of the eight kilns proposed only six have been built. There are two double kilns for decorated ware in a separate building. The new six kiln pottery of the Shenango China company is being pushed to a finish, and will probably be ready to make clay in a few weeks. White granite will be the body produced. A number of potters have already arrived from Trenton, N. J., and Syracuse, N. Y., but there is still a scarcity of skilled men.

The first glost kiln was fired at the Bradshaw pottery, Niles, last week, and the results were very satisfactory. The buildings are all one-story and the plant is a model in every respect. There are four kilns, all of the down draft system. These are quite large, 20 feet each, one having a capacity of 300 dinner sets, and when the plant is on in full they expect to produce two glost kilns each week. Dinner ware will be the only kind produced, unless the firm decides to broaden out.

The Shenango pottery at New Castle, Pa., has the walls of the mould room completed and one kiln finished. Next week 15 bricklayers will begin work on the walls. The first kiln of saggars is going in now. The pottery will be ready to run before Christmas.

The new warehouse at the Dresden pottery has been completed and the building will be dedicated by a dance which will be given by the employees tomorrow night.

The Patterson Foundry and Machine company, of this city, furnished part of the machinery for the New Castle Pottery company's new plant.

Henry Hamill has resigned his position as messenger for the Western Union and accepted one in the packing shed at D. E. McNicol's.

John Monroe, formerly of East Liverpool, has charge of the mold making department at the new Shenango pottery at New Castle.

Local union No. 9, kilnhands, at their meeting Friday night initiated three new members and received one new application.

George W. West has returned from a western trip in the interests of the Vodrey pottery.

Charles Poulton has accepted a position sticking up at the Union.

D., of Columbus, O., one of the vice presidents of the association, will preside in the absence of Dr. Noble.

Oil Land Deal Story Denied.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 21.—The published story of a gigantic oil and mineral land deal in the west, in which the United States Steel corporation is claimed to be a factor, is denied by T. E. Gibbon, vice president and general counsel for the Salt Lake, Los Angeles and San Pedro Railway company. Mr. Gibbon said the story was news to him and that it was purely imaginative.

"Laure Lureau," Dede answered. "You made a great fight for her at the election of the bell's godmother, and she is your friend for that. Moreover, she hates that overbearing American Oakfell and the simpering doll Estelle Latiolais, and she is a true Gasconne. Her grandmother will do for her what she might deny to the rest of the world. Seek Laure and at once."

"You are right, Dede, and your Gascon wit has not been entirely burned out by your rum, which is so fiery that I believe it is distilled where the priests say my gold is coined. Give me another glass of it, and I will see my little partisan this very day. Gascon shrewdness is a match at any time for hectoring Americanism, and we'll head off this infernal abolitionist Oakfell yet."

"What is that you say? Abolitionist!" exclaimed Dede, placing before his patron the brimming glass of liquor. "Not so loud, idiot!" Quillebert said, and, with the look of cruel ferocity which came into his visage whenever his malevolence was at work, he added in a low, grumbling tone: "Did not his speech at Baton Rouge prove him an abolitionist? I believe he has been tampering with that rascal Leon. I believe he is at the bottom of all this scare about an uprising among the negroes if Leon should give the pretext by dying. I believe he has been bargained with by the abolitionists to be paid double the price of his own slaves for his services in setting all the others free. But say nothing about this now, Dede; only watch and listen."

Emptying the glass at one draft, though the liquid heat forced the brine to his hardened eyes, he mounted his horse and briskly rode down into the swamp in the direction of Mother Deshautes' house, leaving Dede with hissing brows drawn down, bloated chin lowered to his chest and countenance of tarnished brass wrapped in an expression of deep cogitation.

The dwelling of the doctress was a tight and durable cottage built of cypress logs daubed with mud, resting upon pillars of cypress butts, arranged into four large chambers, which were divided by a broad hallway, with the inevitable deep veranda in front and the usual kitchen accessories in the rear. Its site was an eminence, a geological aberration in this region of dead levels, where swamp forest broke upon the bare alluvion at the junction of Bayous Rouge and Des Glaisses. Mother Deshautes had never had slaves of her own or planting interests, but had made the income of a small fortune inherited in France suffice for the frugal yet comfortable maintenance of herself and daughter and, after the latter's death, her granddaughter Laure. In former years she had been much in demand as midwife and sick nurse. Her rewards enabled her to hire a negro man to cultivate her garden and provide fuel and a woman for kitchen and cow sheds; also to purchase the largest, stoutest of buggies and the most powerful of mules to draw it, for she was a person of heroic stature, and now in octogenarian years her obesity was such that only with much labor could she walk from room to room. Her journeyings, accomplished with exertion and discomfort, were limited to attendance at the mass at Easter and Christmas and responses in extreme cases to the calls of neighbors who had exceptional claims to her consideration. Her massive head and face were of leonine majesty. The thick white hair and undimmed eyes still spoke strength of character. She was in truth a woman of forceful personality, respected by the intelligent, feared by the ignorant and superstitious.

A short distance within the swamp lay a shallow marais, or pond, choked with water lilies and swarming with ecrevisses, the red crayfish of Louisiana. Bareheaded, barefooted and ankle deep in the marais stood Laure, with hoop net at the end of a long, slight staff, scooping ecrevisses into a basket on her arm for the making of broth for the evening's meal. So intent was she in the pursuit that she was unaware of Quillebert's presence until, after silently feasting his prurient eyes upon the firm, trim limbs and brown and red cheeks of the unconscious girl, he laughed aloud and accosted her:

"Ha, little Gasconne, what a picture—the forest, the marais, the lilies, the nut brown maid with twinkling feet and blushing cheek! Father Grhe has to painting in his church at Mansura to match this one in my church, the great church of nature."

"M. Constant," she cried, "it is not nice to creep out of the bushes at one like this! Go away—at least until I can put on my stockings and shoes!" The flush in her face was for surprise, but the sparkle in her black eyes was not for offense.

"I will not budge an inch," he said, "so come out, my nymph, for I want your aid."

"Glad to be of service to you, M. Constant, but I will not stir a step till you are out of view," said Laure, with a resoluteness which he saw it was useless to combat. He knew she would stand there like a statue until the stars came out if her demand was not complied with.

"And how long shall I be kept out of view, my empress?"

"When I am ready," she replied, "I will sing—"

"Soldier, soldier, marry, marry me."

"But that will bring every gallant within hearing of your siren voice," said Quillebert, "and I crave a secret conference with you."

"Then I will sing so low that only the Chevalier Constant de Quillebert shall hear," she said, with a mock air of lofty assurance.

"I'll abbreviate the banishment of your languishing knight as much as you can, for—"

"I have little to say And far to go, Quick, dear, quick!"

rejoined Quillebert and rode back into the forest.

Laure stood motionless until she could no longer hear the sound of the horse's feet; then, peering searchingly into the thick undergrowth behind which her visitor had disappeared, she tripped lightly out of the water and, dropping net and basket, seized her shoes and hose. With the nimbleness of a doe she sprang behind a huge cypress tree and the concavity of its trunk converted into a toilet, where, drying her feet with grass and leaves, she was quickly shod. Taking her hat from the palm-tree spike on which it hung, she adjusted it fetchingly upon her head and, stepping out, took up the net rod and leaned lightly upon it as a staff. Verily she looked the sylvan beauty of the poets as in rich contrast she sang:

"Soldier, soldier, marry, marry me."

Quillebert could not have been far distant, for the line was hardly finished when he emerged from the bushes, having tied his horse to a tree.

"What a change, my little actress, from the bewitching to the bewildering!" he said.

"I do not like to hear an old man talk so, and young men never say such things to me," she complained.

"Be patient, Laure. You will hear enough of that sort from acceptable lips. Now, little one"—Quillebert had suddenly become grave—"listen to some serious talk, for I am troubled. Will you do me a friendly turn? It is not for nothing. I have at home a beautiful little watch made at Havre, inlaid with rubies and diamonds. If what I wish is accomplished, that watch shall nestle beneath the satin belt you will wear at the next ball."

"M. Constant, surely I need no bribe to serve you. I am already under more obligation than I can ever discharge."

"Nonsense, child. I do not mean to bribe you, but I do mean that no one can ever confer a benefit on Constant Quillebert without being the gainer thereby."

"What is it you desire me to do?"

"It is this: My jockey has been very sick since he was whipped for running away. Some think he will die. That incompetent De Roux does not know how to handle the case. Oakfell, who is thought to be paid by the abolitionists, is in an underhand way seeking to arouse public sentiment against me and has already excited old Latiolais' shallow bearded granddaughter, who has said some bitter things to the priest Grhe and others. She has the notion that the swaggering American is looking her way, and she struts mightily."

"The double faced thing!" exclaimed Laure vindictively.

"Should Leon die," continued Quillebert, "it is thought Oakfell will urge a popular demonstration, maybe a prosecution. I would avoid all this. If Leon recovers, I will pay back the conspirators with interest."

"Estelle, too?" demanded Laure.

"If she gets in the way, she shall have her share," he answered.

"Then what can I do?" she asked, with a satisfied air.

"This—persuade your grandmother to give you the cure for Leon."

"Oh, M. Constant! I fear your unfriendliness to the church will prevent."

"How? Does any one here give more to the priests and the convents than I do? But that is not to the point. I am not sick. The cure is for Leon. Besides, I am your friend, Laure, and your enemies are my enemies."

"Must you have it today?"

"At once. There is not one minute to spare. If Leon is not better by tomorrow morning, he will not live the week out."

"I will try," Laure consented after short reflection.

"Take this; it may help your argument," said Quillebert, handing her a shining double eagle goldpiece.

"Back into the bushes, then, till I return," said she.

Quillebert did as he was bidden, and the girl walked rapidly to the cottage. The half hour of her absence appeared to him all but interminable, and it was as one freed from long imprisonment that he sprang from the matted vines and brush when she stopped beside the tree holding her hands behind her and sang:

"Soldier, soldier, marry, marry me."

"Well?" he exclaimed.

"She was very unwilling," said she.

"But—"

"I got it," she anticipated his question. "Here it is." And, holding forth her hands, she exhibited in one narrow band of snow white cloth about ten inches in length made of unspun cotton fiber beaten and pressed while saturated with water. The other held a roll of the cured skin of a garfish, in which the cotton strip had been incased.

"Grandmother raised this cotton in the garden from seed obtained in Egypt by her brother, who was a soldier of the emperor. She had every boll taken from the stalk as it opened and carried to her room. With her own hands she picked the lint, muttering prayers and crossing herself all the while. She soaked and pressed it with her own fingers, and I am sure she put a prayer between every two layers. She says that if before 9 o'clock tonight this holy fillet is laid over Leon's eyes and temples he will get well."

"Pretty one, you are a Jeanne d'Arc! Give me the fillet," Quillebert eagerly demanded.

"Take it and win," said Laure.

"And share the spoils of victory with my little lieutenant," he added, rolling the strip and replacing it in the fish-skin. In an instant his horse was heard bounding through the dry swamp.

Another sound of horse's feet fell upon Laure's ear, and she ran to the skirt of the wood to receive a most elaborate bow from the exquisite Evariste Oakfell as he cantered along the opposite bank of the bayou and to catch the notes of his fine tenor voice caroling:

"Soldier, soldier, marry, marry me."

Her heart beat wildly with a delight she could scarce explain, but was suddenly stilled by the thought that Evariste may have seen Quillebert, heard his signal to him and construed their meeting as she would not for the world have him construe it.

The gait of Quillebert's steed was not lowered from a run until, throbbing and covered with foam, he was halted at his stable. Quillebert took no chances with the clock, but at once proceeded to the cabin where lay the emaciated, slinking, faintly breathing jockey. Producing the gleaming fillet, he stretched it over the closed eyes and sunken temples of the seemingly dying man and on their lives charged the awed negroes in attendance to see that there it remained till morning.

Leon slept fitfully through the night. At break of day he awoke from delirium, Odette and freedom to consciousness, Quillebert and shackles.

CHAPTER VIII.

ARTICLE 3510.

THE cooling air of November had checked the fruiting of the cotton plant and quickened the sweetening of the sugar cane. The harvesting of the one was ending, of the other about to begin, when a small company came together at "L'Esperance" upon Oakfell's invitation. Though not numerous, it reliably represented the best sentiment of the parish—Baldouine and Brulleton from lower Bayou des Glaisses, Millichaize and Colmesnotte from Borodino and Moreauville, Jewett and Fyrt from Bayous Beuf and Hupfower, Bizet and Dufosse from Cocoville, Valsin Moullot from Bayou du Lac, Father Grhe from Mansura. A truly satisfying dinner, topped by venison and mallard ducks, had maintained the good-fame of the Oakfell board, and the servants being withdrawn by Mrs. Wyley, guests and host, over their coffee, considered the case of the jockey Leon.

Briefly and clearly Oakfell stated the result of his examination of the law and the facts. In proof of Quillebert's guilty knowledge that he had not even the shadow of a claim of ownership, he read this extract from a certified copy of the deed signed by him and Poydre, the agent of the heirs of Queyrouze: "The oldest son of the said negress Olive, called Leon, is not included in the present sale, a condition without which the present sale would not take place and is void if the purchasers disregard it." And, as establishing Leon's right to freedom, he cited the article 3510 of the civil code:

"If a master suffer a slave to enjoy his liberty for 10 years during his residence in the state or for 20 years while out of it, he shall lose all right of action to recover possession of the slave unless the slave be a runaway or fugitive."

"This provision of the law," said Oakfell, "the distinct exception in the act of sale and Quillebert's perfidy in entrapping the unsuspecting boy have determined me, gentlemen, to institute suit in behalf of Leon for freedom, and I have felt that I should declare my purpose to those friends and neighbors whose judgement and esteem I value most."

All looked to Baldouine, who after a moment of silent thought confidently spoke their response:

"Your resolution increases our respect for you. Quillebert is a shameless demoralizer, an evil influence in the community. His chief gains have notoriously been from gambling and usury. His instincts are low, and his practices are scandals hurtful to our young men. This theft of a man from himself is the crowning disgrace he has put upon our parish. In undertaking to thwart and rebuke him you do a true service to the good people of Avoyelles. Mr. Oakfell, and shall have the support of all of us here."

"Not only our support, Mr. Horace," exclaimed Valsin, "but our protection also."

"The danger is not to me, but to Leon," Oakfell replied. "I fear that Quillebert will kill him outright in the rage into which the suit will throw him."

They found him at a sharp bend in the public road.

"Then," said Fyrt, whose presidency over sessions of the lynch court in the early days of the state had made his name a dread to evildoers and whose countenance testified a terrible courage, "he must in advance be warned that he cannot live 12 hours in Avoyelles afterward, and I suggest the priest as the proper person to notify him. Do you object, sir?" addressing Father Grhe.

"I do not," replied the latter, and the party dispersed.

As prearranged by Oakfell, the sheriff, charged with the service of the legal processes, called at the house of Father Grhe, and the latter accompanied him on the visit to Quillebert. They found him at a sharp bend in the public road skirting the Bayou Rouge, seated upon his horse and conversing with Laure Lureau, sole occupant of her grandmother's exaggerated buggy, to which was harnessed the colossal mule. Coming suddenly upon the two, they saw the girl quickly snatch from Quillebert's hand a small watch and long golden chain and furtively bestow them under the seat of the vehicle and were amused at her confused efforts to recover the loosened reins and drive on before they spoke.

"Pray do not be disturbed at this interruption of your tete-a-tete, made-moiselle," said the sheriff, doffing his hat. "I have but to deliver these papers to M. Quillebert and be off, with apologies for the intrusion." And he handed the documents to Quillebert, who received them mechanically, without so much as looking at the large written characters indorsed upon them.

"Before reading those papers, M. Quillebert, allow me to speak with you," said Father Grhe, riding near him and in an undertone communicating the particulars of the meeting at "L'Esperance" and the warning in the words of Fyrt.

In the struggle to suppress his anger Quillebert's face was that of a demon. It became knotted with swollen veins; his bloodshot eyes glared like a bated brute's; his heavy lips, though tightly pressed together, shook like storm swept waves of a muddy stream, and his fingers convulsively worked the papers they clutched into a crumpled and shapeless lump. Father Grhe turned his eyes away from the revolting spectacle, but Laure gazed upon it fascinated.

"The cowardly creoles join the bullying Americans in threatening a Frenchman with lynch law, and you, monsieur priest, are their herald, eh? That is the case?" at length Quillebert muttered hoarsely.

"It will only aggravate the situation to use insulting adjectives," answered Father Grhe. "Those citizens have but adopted a heroic mode of forestalling a possible and deplorable outcome of an appeal to the law in humanity's cause, and I have borne their message in the hope of preventing two murders. Mlle. Lureau, you seem to have the confidence of M. Quillebert." He accompanied these words with a significant look at the girl. "Advise him against his dangerous impulses."

Her face was instantly aflame, and her eyes became orbs of wrath, but she made no audible reply nor returned the bow of the priest and sheriff as they rode away.

A $2,500 BLAZE SUNDAY MORNING

Small Building Destroyed Together With Some Very Valuable Machinery.

BIG STRUCTURE ESCAPED

A Fire That Was Costly Broke Out at the Chester Mill At an Early Hour Yesterday Morning — The Cause Not Known.

A fire did about $2,500 worth of damage Sunday morning at the Chester tin plate mill. It broke out about 1 o'clock. No one was on the premises except George Hardman, the watchman. He had made his rounds and found nothing wrong a few minutes prior to the blaze which consumed a small frame building, located on the east side of the plant.

In a very few minutes the building and contents were destroyed. Fortunately the fire did not spread to the large building that is not over 40 feet to the west. It was an inexpensive frame building, but in it was stored two dynamos, a quantity of wire and other supplies that were to be used in the electrical department.

The loss is estimated to be from $2,500 to $3,000.

Aside from the property belonging to the mill people, about $12 worth of tools, belonging to Edward Pauley were burned.

FELL FROM A SCAFFOLD

Workman at the Tin Mill Lost His Balance And Tumbled 40 Feet.

Joe Snellgrow, an employe of the American Bridge company, now constructing an addition to the tin mill in Chester, had a narrow escape from death Saturday afternoon. He was working on a scaffold 40 feet in the air when he lost his balance and fell backward, narrowly missing an iron obstruction on his descent.

The injuries received are not serious and speedy recovery is looked for.

Saturday evening in New Cumberland Charles Sharp and Miss Oliver, both of Chester, were wedded. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Arch Severs. The young people will make their home at the Severs residence on Carolina avenue.

FINAL PAPERS

WILL BE TAKEN OUT BY FOREIGNERS HERE.

In Case the Required Number Can Be Secured Judge Boone Will Do the Rest.

Chief Thompson and City Clerk Hanley have been approached quite frequently of late by parties of foreign birth who are desirous of taking out their naturalization papers.

By proceeding in the regular way and making a trip to the county seat they are put to considerable expense, and they desired to know whether there was not some other manner in which they could go through the proper form without the expense and trouble of a journey to the office of Probate Judge Boone.

The local officials, after investigating, learned that provided there were ten or more men in this vicinity desirous of taking out papers the probate judge would come here and do the work. Chief Thompson now has the names of six men, and hopes to secure the remainder this week. Any one desiring to secure either first or second papers may report to the chief at any time during the present week and thus have the assurance of a vote at the coming election.

THE MAILS ARE SWIFTER

It Required 26 Hours for a Telegraph Message From Beaver Falls to Reach Here.

It has been recently mentioned in the columns of this paper that the Postal Telegraph company would perhaps soon establish an office in East Liverpool. The Western Union has been trying, since the announcement was made, to convince the public that it was giving a service that left nothing to be desired. It is time and labor wasted, for every person who has occasion for much telegraph business knows that East Liverpool in that respect is far behind scores of towns of not half its population.

To say nothing of the fact that there is no uptown telegraph office and that messenger boys can seldom be had when wanted, there are vexatious delays constantly occurring.

During the past week a young man, who works in one of the potteries of this city, received a telegram from Beaver Falls announcing a death. The message was sent out of Beaver Falls one evening and the young man received it the next, about 26 hours after the message had been filed. That is to say, the Western Union succeeded in sending that message at a rate of a trifle over a mile an hour. He expressed regret that his friends had not communicated with him by mail, as the mails are so much swifter and more reliable.

Where the Postal and Western Union compete there is generally something decent in the way of a telegraph service. Either company will send or deliver a message promptly as a matter of business enterprise. They maintain uptown offices and night service and their patrons have some assurance that their wants will receive attention. There is small likelihood of any such reforms here until there is competition in the business.

NO NEWS OF MISS STONE.

U. S. Legation Had None From Haskell or Baird—Efforts Now on Bulgarian Side.

Constantinople, Oct. 21.—The United States legation in Constantinople is still without definite news from either the Rev. S. H. C. Haskell or the Rev. J. W. Baird, of the Congregational mission at Samakov, Bulgaria, who have been endeavoring to get in touch with the abductors of Miss Ellen M. Stone, the missionary, and Miss Tsilka, her companion, with a view of arranging as to the ransom demanded by the brigands.

Mr. Baird, who was at Djumabalo, has returned to Samakov, indicating his failure to get into touch with the brigands from the Turkish side.

All efforts will now be concentrated on the Bulgarian side.

PAN-AMERICAN DELEGATES.

They Took In Sight at the Mexican Capital.

Mexico City, Oct. 21.—The Pan-American delegates passed Sunday out of doors in the bright Mexican sunshine and taking in sights of the city.

The delegates will visit the quarters of the general secretaries of the conference this morning, inscribing their names and addresses. In the afternoon they will hold an informal meeting to make preliminary arrangements, but will not meet for a formal inaugural session until 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when Minister of Foreign Relations Ignacio Mariscal will preside, delivering an address of welcome. He will then ask the delegates to name an acting chairman to preside at the meetings, in which the delegates will discuss rules and regulations.

There is some opposition to making all the sessions secret, it being urged that the conference can go into secret session when matters to be discussed shall demand it.

Tomorrow night all the delegates and their families will be entertained at the presidential departments at the National palace to witness the fireworks and illuminations and to listen to a serenade by the military bands.

Two rooms have been set apart in the palace and handsomely furnished for the use of the bureau of American republics.

CITY OF CLEVELAND

STRUCK ROCK DURING FOG.

Detroit, Oct. 21.—The passenger steamer City of Cleveland, of the Detroit and Cleveland line, ran on a rock during a heavy fog, east of Ballards reef, and stove a large hole in her bottom amidships. The water rushed in with great force and the steamer gradually filled until she rested on bottom, with, however, her main deck still above water. The shock was so slight that none of the 40 passengers who were asleep in their berths were awakened and there was no alarm. Many of them did not know of the accident until they were aroused to get aboard the steamer Newsboy and proceed to Detroit where they were landed.

Chaplain Suicided Through Dementia.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 21.—The body of the Rev. Henry Black, for some time chaplain of the British second-class cruiser Charybdis, who mysteriously disappeared from St. Johns last Wednesday, was found near St. Johns, shot through the head. In the right hand of the dead man was a revolver. He had evidently committed suicide in consequence of dementia, attributed to the excitement growing out of the arrangements for the forthcoming visit of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York.

Gold and silver was imported during the 10 months ended April, 1901, to the value of $774,602; same period of 1900, $5,105,287; exported during the 10 months, $992,836, and for the same period of 1900, $3,299,553.

FIGHT ON FEDERAL JUDGES.

One to Be Begun by Chicago Federation of Labor.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The Chicago Federation of Labor last night enlisted in the cause of the Allis-Chalmers machinist strike and decided to fight Judge Kohlhaas's injunction through the courts. The Federation also decided not only to secure able lawyers for the legal struggle, but began a crusade against federal judges, whose actions they resent. The speakers were bitter in their denunciations. It was decided to request every Illinois congressman and both senators to petition congress to curtail the powers of the federal judges.

YALE CELEBRATES,

The Two Hundredth Anniversary of The Founding of The College.

SERVICES DEVOUT, AS IS FITTING

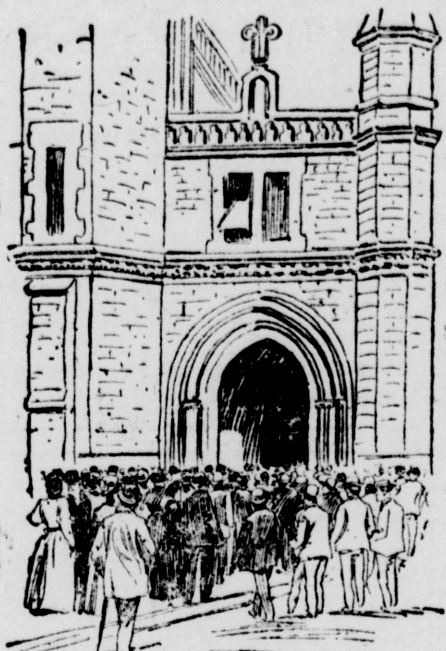

With the Traditions of the Old New England Days—Prayers, Reading of Scriptures and Sermons—President Roosevelt to Receive a Degree.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 21.—Yale university began Sunday the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of Yale college. The bi-centennial of the great institution of learning was ushered in with ceremonies essentially religious.

The services were performed in accordance with the devout reverent traditions of the good old New England days when the little handful of clergymen gathered together and with prayerful supplications asked Divine blessing upon the institution. The old hymns were sung and powerful sermons were uttered.

The city was bedecked with Yale colors and evergreen, the stars and stripes being much used.

The principal streets had become archways of blue, adorned at intervals with pictures of President Roosevelt, who on Wednesday is to be Yale's guest and who on that day will become a son of Yale, when the university's honorary degree is conferred upon him.

From the simple school of 1701 Yale Sunday found herself a great university, developed through the years from a one-building institution down through her "brick row" to a campus, thence to a second campus, and now to a third, and stretching out in her departmental buildings to territory as great again.

Within Battell chapel, where the bi-centennial was inaugurated, the services participated in by an assembly, as imposing as the exercises were simple.

On the rostrum sat President Arthur T. H. H. At his right was Rev. Joseph Twichell, D. D., of Hartford, the preacher of the bi-centennial sermon. To his left was Thomas G. Bennett, of the Yale corporation. Next to Dr. Twichell sat former President Timothy Dwight. On one end was Hon. Henry Howland, of New York; on the other Rev. Charles R. Palmer, both fellows of the university corporation. All wore the gowns of their offices. Below in the choir stalls sat a picked choir of students. The body of the chapel was occupied in the center aisle by distinguished delegates and guests, who wore academic gowns with hoods of many colors. The seats of the side aisles were filled with Yale graduates, while the galleries were reserved for ladies.

The service began at 10:30 a. m. A chant by the choir was followed by the Lord's Prayer. President Hadley read a lesson from the Scriptures, and after the "Te Deum" the vast congregation sang psalm LXV.

Rev. Joseph Hopkins Twichell, of Hartford, the senior fellow of the corporation, preached the sermon.

The closing hymn was "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord," written by Rev. Timothy Dwight, D. D., LL. D., president of Yale college from 1795 to 1817. Then was sung the doxology and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Timothy Dwight, president of the university from 1886 to 1899.

Services in Other Churches.

Meanwhile special bi-centennial services were held in other churches of the city and special sermons were preached by Rev. Newman Smyth, D. D., in the Center church; Rev. Joseph Anderson, D. D., of Waterbury, in the United church, and Rev. Walton Wesley Battershall, D. D., of Albany, in Trinity church. All of these churches are located on the historic green adjacent to the college property and for many years the college commencement exercises were held in Center church.

The Rev. Walton W. Battershall, D. D., in the course of his address on "The Old Faith and the New Knowledge," said:

"The world today is facing problems which perplex it and appal it, which start up from old savageries which it dreamed it had battered down with the veneers of its civilization, which shake the moral pillars of which its civilization has been built, which confound its smooth-tongued prophets and one-eyed philosophers, who tell it that humanity for its order and well being and its development into happy and contented life needs belief neither in God nor the soul nor immortality, but only the spur of selfishness, the restraints of the police and prudence and the hope of clutching the prizes in the human scramble, if this doctrine should gain a large percentage of converts, like those who burrow and plot in subterranean Europe, like some of our recent importations, like the one who a month ago struck down the president and sent a wave of horror around the world, civilization would collapse like a house of cards. A man may think that he can fulfill his life without the church of Christ and the tremendous forces which it propagates in the conscience and conduct of the world. There will be crises in his history in which he will discover his mistake, and if he look outside his curtained windows he will see that the great world, if it keeps its hold on its most precious things, must have a religion that puts the voice of the eternal behind the social moralities and the lamp of an immortal hope within the sepulchre."

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock Rev. George Park Fisher, D. D., LL. D., professor of ecclesiastical history and dean of the Yale divinity school, delivered an address on the subject of "Yale University in its Relations to Theology and Missions."

Last evening at 8 o'clock, in Battell chapel, the college organist, Harry Benjamin Jepson, assistant professor of applied music, gave an organ recital.

Today will be devoted practically to ceremonies of official welcome.

PRESIDENT ATTENDED CHURCH.

Leaves Washington This Afternoon.

Platt Saw Him, but Situation Unchanged.

Washington, Oct. 21.—President Roosevelt will spend a day in Farmington, Conn., the summer home of his sister, Mrs. Cowles, before going to New Haven, where he is to have the degree of LL. D. conferred upon him by Yale university. Accompanied by Secretary Cortelyou, the president will leave Washington this afternoon, arriving in Farmington tomorrow morning.

Senator Platt, of New York, was at the White House Sunday afternoon and talked with the president regarding the federal patronage in the Empire state. It is said the situation regarding the principal offices over which there has been considerable discussion remains unchanged.

Last night Civil Service Commissioner Proctor was at the White House.

The president attended religious services at the Grace Reformed church as usual Sunday morning.

A Simple Disinfectant.

A simple disinfectant to use in a sick-room or in any room where a close, musty or sewer smell is noticed is to put some ground coffee on a shovel, a bit of camphor gum in the middle of it. Light the gum, which is nonexplosive and easily ignited, with a match and allow the coffee to burn with the gum. A refreshing and sanitary perfume is the result.

The Tobacco Habit.

Chewing tobacco is a filthy habit. Smoking makes you so foul that you can smell yourself. Tobacco is very injurious to health. Every user of tobacco tries to quit it and finds it very difficult. Boys see their elders trying to quit, yet boys make themselves sick in acquiring the tobacco habit.—Atlantic Globe.

A SOLEMN DUTY

Rests Upon Every Republican Voter of Ohio This Year.

VICTORY SHOULD BE SWEEPING.

Democratic Effort Devoted to the Legislature in the Hope of Defeating Foraker and Gerrymandering the State.

If every Republican voter in the state of Ohio who has expressed himself in words or by actions in the past few weeks as sincerely sorrowing for the assassination of the President should go to the polls and vote that way, the endorsement of the McKinley administration, the encouragement to President Roosevelt to carry forward the good work left unfinished, would be so complete and overwhelming as to convince the world that Ohio is unflinching in its support of the McKinley policies.

It devolves upon Republicans to do this. No matter how many Democrats may take action of the same kind, that is a matter of voluntary choice with every such individual; but it is a solemn and imperative party duty of every Republican to make it as plain as possible, by his personal vote and influence and action, that the state of McKinley is true through and through to his successor.

There are votes enough, and the more of them the better; but not one of them will amount to anything unless it shall be put into the ballot box on the 5th of November for George K. Nash and the Republican ticket, and particularly for members of the house and senate of Ohio who will be sure to re-elect Senator Joseph B. Foraker.

The United States senate will need to be kept thoroughly Republican in order that there may be ample support for the policies of President Roosevelt, and that the plans begun by President McKinley, which his successor is pledged to complete, shall be carried forward without hindrance or obstruction. Every Republican believes that those plans are the best for the country, the best for the world, that they will advance America among the nations, and will prove of vast benefit. What use, then, is it to be a Republican and think such things, and not vote for them?

The legislature to be elected this year also may have it in its power to decide the complexion of the house of representatives of the United States congress in all ten years of the new decade. It has been the way with the Democracy of Ohio to gerrymander the state congressional districts at every opportunity given them by the neglect of the Republicans. Their state issue campaign is nothing but a mask to seize the senatorship and the legislature for another gerrymander.

Republican Ohio would be misrepresented by a Democratic majority of members of congress, by a Democratic rearrangement of the districts to make any other result impossible. Nothing but the neglect of Republicans to do their duty can give them this chance. Any Republican whose negligence aids them in accomplishing such result will have the cold comfort afterward of knowing that he was false to President McKinley, to President Roosevelt, and his own professed principles.

Will Ohio Republicans, by their staying at home or by failing to do their duty in their respective counties, and to vote for members of the house and senate of the general assembly, substitute for Joseph B. Foraker, senatorial leader, Tom Johnson, John R. McLean, or some one that the latter may name? Who will McLean name, according to his letters of late to Democratic candidates for the legislature?

Ohio can claim the distinction of having more varieties of Democrats than any state in the union.

Ohio will uphold the hands of President Roosevelt by her Republican majority.

REBEL PLOTS IN SAMAR FOILED.

Reinforcements Received There—Gen. Smith Gives Orders That the Insurrection Must Be Hammered Out and Gen. Lukban Captured.

Manila, Oct. 21.—Owing to the vigilance of Lieutenant Thomas M. Bains, Jr., of the Ninth United States infantry, another slaughter of American troops by insurgents has been averted. It seems that Lieutenant Bains discovered a prisoner re-entering a cell at Carabiga, island of Samar, where several were confined, through a hole that had been let in the wall. An investigation showed a plan to fill the jail with bolomen and to call the guard, which would be necessary to get the door open, and then to attack the garrison. It also developed that the instigators were a priest and the presidente, both of whom have been arrested, together with several other prominent persons.

Other Plots Frustrated. Other attempts have been discovered, but fortunately frustrated, at Pambujan and other points in Samar. Several persons have been arrested in connection with these.

Reinforcements are being received at Samar. Three hundred and thirty marines, under Lieutenant Colonel Mancill C. Goodrell, have gone there on board the United States cruiser New York, and two battalions of the Twelfth infantry will start immediately for the same destination.

United States officers from other provinces that were supposed to be pacified have recently arrived in Manila and they say that the news of American disasters spread like wildfire among the natives, who scarcely attempt to conceal their delight.

The Manila constabulary discovered a large quantity of steel wagon springs which were being shipped to various districts. Investigation showed that these were to be used in manufacturing bolos.

The troops in Samar anticipate hard fighting. Brigadier General Jacob H. Smith, who is in command, has visited most of the ports and instructed the commanders that the insurrection must be hammered out and General Lukban, the insurgent leader, captured. Already the movement of troops has begun.

General Lacuna Complains.

General Lacuna, who surrendered last May, has complained to General Chaffee that the terms upon which he and his force surrendered have not been respected by the Americans. He exhibits a document signed by himself and General Frederick Funston, in which he and his force are granted immunity in respect of all acts committed contrary to the laws of war. Since this document was executed several of Lacuna's officers and men have been tried, condemned and sentenced to death for killing American prisoners. General Funston says that when it was signed he gave Lacuna orally to understand that the killing of American prisoners was excepted. Lacuna admits that something was said on the subject, but says no thorough understanding was reached, and he considers the written agreement binding.

Potter Preached in Chicago.

SUCCESS IN OHIO.

Why an Overwhelming Republican Majority Is Needed.

Wall of the Democrats Because the Republicans Choose to Endorse the Policies of Their Dead Leader.

The Democratic press begins to plead piteously against the inevitable, declaring that the Republicans have no right to ask the voters of Ohio to remember the great Ohio Republican leader who has just laid down his duties as president of the United States, slain by an assassin because he was president. This is curious but characteristic of Democratic arguments. They talk about restricting the Ohio campaign to state issues alone, knowing full well that their success would be hailed by the Democratic party of the entire nation as a party success, and that after election, should they win, that would be proclaimed as a defeat for the principles and policies and administrations of President McKinley and President Roosevelt.

But the voters of Ohio have proved themselves time and again too intelligent to be caught with any such chaff. They know that Ohio is a mighty important part of the United States, and can not be cut off from the rest of the country. The citizens of this state realize that the real issue, the inseparable issue of the campaign, is the upholding or repudiating of all that McKinley did, or all that Roosevelt has undertaken to do, in carrying forward McKinley's work. Of all the states in the Union, Ohio is the last that can at this time fail to fall short of its duty to the principles and administration of President McKinley.

The results that he accomplished are before the people for their verdict. The work yet to be done is to be along the lines that he laid down, or in ways that he would have approved. All agree as individuals upon his greatness and worth as a man, but it was as president that he suffered, and it is as president that his policy must be approved or condemned by the people.

Particularly does this apply to the Republicans of Ohio. A very great duty devolves upon them—every man of them. Their numbers are enough to make a complete, yes overwhelming endorsement of President McKinley and encouragement of President Roosevelt. The state of McKinley, least of all, can afford to fail to do its utmost duty for his successor in the first election held after the assassination.

No Ohio Republican can afford to absent himself from the polls at this time. All the Democrats who desire to practically express their approval of the policies that have accomplished so much good are most welcome; but it is with Republicans first and most of all that the duty rests of an absolutely full vote. No absentees in Ohio on November 5th—no stay-at-homes!

"Laure Luncan," Dede answered. "You made a great fight for her at the election of the bell's godmother, and she is your friend for that. Moreover, she hates that overbearing American Oakfell and the simpering doll Estelle Latlials, and she is a true Gasconne. Her grandmother will do for her what she might deny to the rest of the world. Seek Laure and at once."

"You are right, Dede, and your Gascon wit has not been entirely burned out by your rum, which is so fiery that I believe it is distilled where the priests say my gold is coined. Give me another glass of it, and I will see my little partisan this very day. Gascon shrewdness is a match at any time for hectoring Americanism, and we'll head off this infernal abolitionist Oakfell yet."

"What is that you say? Abolitionist!" exclaimed Dede, placing before his patron the brimming glass of liquor. "Not so loud, idiot!" Quillebert said, and, with the look of cruel ferocity which came into his visage whenever his malevolence was at work, he added in a low, grumbling tone: "Did not his speech at Baton Rouge prove him an abolitionist? I believe he has been tampering with that rascal Leon. I believe he is at the bottom of all this scare about an uprising among the negroes if Leon should give the pretext by dying. I believe he has been bargaining with the abolitionists to be paid double the price of his own slaves for his services in settling all the others free. But say nothing about this now, Dede; only watch and listen."

Emptying the glass at one draft, though the liquid heat forced the brine to his hardened eyes, he mounted his

She was unaware of Quillebert's presence. horse and briskly rode down into the swamp in the direction of Mother Deshauteles' house, leaving Dede with bristling brows drawn down, bloated chin lowered to his chest and countenance of tarnished brass wrapped in an expression of deep cogitation.

The dwelling of the doctress was a tight and durable cottage built of cypress logs daubed with mud, resting upon pillars of cypress butts, arranged into four large chambers, which were divided by a broad hallway, with the inevitable deep veranda in front and the usual kitchen accessories in the rear. Its site was an eminence, a geological aberration in this region of dead levels, where swamp forest broke upon the bare alluvium at the junction of Bayous Rouge and Des Glaisses. Mother Deshauteles had never had slaves of her own or planting interests, but had made the income of a small fortune inherited in France suffice for the frugal yet comfortable maintenance of herself and daughter and, after the latter's death, her granddaughter Laure. In former years she had been much in demand as midwife and sick nurse. Her rewards enabled her to hire a negro man to cultivate her garden and provide fuel and a woman for kitchen and cow sheds; also to purchase the largest, stoutest of buggies and the most powerful of mules to draw it, for she was a person of heroic stature, and now in octogenarian years her obesity was such that only with much labor could she walk from room to room. Her journeyings, accomplished with exertion and discomfort, were limited to attendance at the mass at Easter and Christmas and responses in extreme cases to the calls of neighbors who had exceptional claims to her consideration. Her massive head and face were of leonine majesty. The thick white hair and undimmed eyes still spoke strength of character. She was in truth a woman of forceful personality, respected by the intelligent, feared by the ignorant and superstitious.

A short distance within the swamp lay a shallow marais, or pond, choked with water lilies and swarming with ecrevisses, the red crayfish of Louisiana. Bareheaded, barefooted and ankle deep in the marais stood Laure, with hoop net at the end of a long, slight staff, scooping ecrevisses into a basket on her arm for the making of broth for the evening's meal. So intent was she in the pursuit that she was unaware of Quillebert's presence until, after silently feasting his prurient eyes upon the firm, white limbs and brown and red cheeks of the unconscious girl, he laughed aloud and accosted her:

"Ha, little Gasconne, what a picture—the forest, the marais, the lilies, the out brown maid with twinkling feet and blushing cheek! Father Grhe has to painting in his church at Mansura to match this one in my church, the great church of nature."

"M. Constant," she cried, "it is not nice to creep out of the bushes at one like this! Go away—at least until I can put on my stockings and shoes!" The flush in her face was for surprise, but the sparkle in her black eyes was not for offense.

"I will not budge an inch," he said, "so come out, my nymph, for I want your aid."

"Glad to be of service to you, M. Constant, but I will not stir a step till you are out of view," said Laure, with a resoluteness which he saw it was useless to combat. He knew she would stand there like a statue until the stars came out if her demand was not complied with.

"And how long shall I be kept out of view, my empress?"

"When I am ready," she replied, "I will sing—"

"Soldier, soldier, marry, marry me."

"But that will bring every gallant within hearing of your siren voice," said Quillebert, "and I crave a secret conference with you."

"Then I will sing so low that only the Chevalier Constant de Quillebert shall hear," she said, with a mock air of lofty assurance.

"I'll abbreviate the banishment of your languishing knight as much as you can, for—"

"I have little to say And far to go, Quick, dear, quick!"

rejoined Quillebert and rode back into the forest.

Laure stood motionless until she could no longer hear the sound of the horse's feet; then, peering searchingly into the thick undergrowth behind which her visitor had disappeared, she tripped lightly out of the water and, dropping net and basket, seized her shoes and hose. With the nimbleness of a doe she sprang behind a huge cypress tree and the concavity of its trunk converted into a toilet, where, drying her feet with grass and leaves, she was quickly shod. Taking her hat from the palmetto spike on which it hung, she adjusted it fetchingly upon her head and, stepping out, took up the net and leaned lightly upon it as a staff. Verily she looked the sylvan beauty of the poets as in rich contrast she sang:

"Soldier, soldier, marry, marry me."

Quillebert could not have been far distant, for the line was hardly finished when he emerged from the bushes, having tied his horse to a tree.

"What a change, my little actress, from the bewitching to the bewildering!" he said.

"I do not like to hear an old man talk so, and young men never say such things to me," she complained.

"Be patient, Laure. You will hear enough of that sort from acceptable lips. Now, little one"—Quillebert had suddenly become grave—"listen to some serious talk, for I am troubled. Will you do me a friendly turn? It is not for nothing, I have at home a beautiful little watch made at Havre, inlaid with rubies and diamonds. If what I wish is accomplished, that watch shall nestle beneath the satin belt you will wear at the next ball."

"M. Constant, surely I need no bribe to serve you. I am already under more obligation than I can ever discharge."

"Nonsense, child. I do not mean to bribe you, but I do mean that no one can ever confer a benefit on Constant Quillebert without being the gainer thereby."

"What is it you desire me to do?"

"It is this: My Jockey has been very sick since he was whipped for running away. Some think he will die. That incompetent De Roux does not know how to handle the case. Oakfell, who is thought to be paid by the abolitionists, is in an underhand way seeking to arouse public sentiment against me and has already excited old Latlials' shallow headed granddaughter, who has said some bitter things to the priest Grhe and others. She has the notion that the swaggering American is looking her way, and she struts mightily."

"The double faced thing!" exclaimed Laure vindictively.

"Should Leon die," continued Quillebert, "it is thought Oakfell will urge a popular demonstration, maybe a prosecution. I would avoid all this. If Leon recovers, I will pay back the conspirators with interest."

"Estelle, too?" demanded Laure.

"If she gets in the way, she shall have her share," he answered.

"Then what can I do?" she asked, with a satisfied air.

"This—persuade your grandmother to give you the cure for Leon."

"Oh, M. Constant! I fear your unfriendliness to the church will prevent."

"How? Does any one here give more to the priests and the convents than I do? But that is not to the point. I am not sick. The cure is for Leon. Besides, I am your friend, Laure, and your enemies are my enemies."

"Must you have it today?"

"At once. There is not one minute to spare. If Leon is not better by tomorrow morning, he will not live the week out."

"I will try," Laure consented after short reflection.

"Take this; it may help your argument," said Quillebert, handing her a shining double eagle goldpiece.

"Back into the bushes, then, till I return," said she.

Quillebert did as he was bidden, and the girl walked rapidly to the cottage. The half hour of her absence appeared to him all but interminable, and it was as one freed from long imprisonment that he sprang from the matted vines and brush when she stopped beside the tree holding her hands behind her and sang:

"Soldier, soldier, marry, marry me."

"Well?" he exclaimed.

"She was very unwilling," said she.

"But—"

"I got it," she anticipated his question. "Here it is." And, holding forth her hands, she exhibited in one narrow band of snow white cloth about ten inches in length made of unspun cotton fiber beaten and pressed while saturated with water. The other held a roll of the cured skin of a garfish, in which the cotton strip had been incased.

"Grandmother raised this cotton in the garden from seed obtained in Egypt by her brother, who was a soldier of the emperor. She had every boll taken from the stalk as it opened and carried to her room. With her own hands she picked the lint, muttering prayers and crossing herself all the while. She soaked and pressed it with her own fingers, and I am sure she put a prayer between every two layers. She says that if before 9 o'clock tonight this holy fillet is laid over Leon's eyes and temples he will get well."

"Pretty one, you are a Jeanne d'Arc! Give me the fillet," Quillebert eagerly demanded.

"Take it and win," said Laure.

"And share the spoils of victory with my little lieutenant," he added, rolling the strip and replacing it in the fish-skin. In an instant his horse was heard bounding through the dry swamp.

Another sound of horse's feet fell upon Laure's ear, and she ran to the skirt of the wood to receive a most elaborate bow from the exquisite Evariste Oakfell as he cantered along the opposite bank of the bayou and to catch the notes of his fine tenor voice carolling:

"Soldier, soldier, marry, marry me."

Her heart beat wildly with a delight she could scarce explain, but was suddenly stilled by the thought that Evariste may have seen Quillebert, heard her signal to him and construed their meeting as he would not for the world have him construe it.

The gait of Quillebert's steed was not lowered from a run until, throbbing and covered with foam, he was halted at his stable. Quillebert took no chances with the clock, but at once proceeded to the cabin where lay the emaciated, sinking, faintly breathing Jockey. Producing the gleaming fillet, he stretched it over the closed eyes and sunken temples of the seemingly dying man and on their lives charged the awed negroes in attendance to see that there it remained till morning.

Leon slept fitfully through the night. At break of day he awoke from delirium, Odette and freedom to consciousness, Quillebert and shackles.

CHAPTER VIII. ARTICLE 3510.

THE cooling air of November had checked the fruiting of the cotton plant and quickened the sweetening of the sugar cane. The harvesting of the one was ending, of the other about to begin, when a small company came together at "L'Esperance" upon Oakfell's invitation. Though not numerous, it robustly represented the best sentiment of the parish—Baldouine and Brulleton from lower Bayou des Glaisses, Millechaze and Colmesnotte from Bordino and Moreauville, Jewett and Fyrth from Bayous Boeur and Huffpouer, Bizet and Dufosse from Cocoville, Valsin Moullot from Bayou du Lac, Father Grhe from Mansura. A truly satisfying dinner, topped by venison and mallard ducks, had maintained the good fame of the Oakfell board, and the servants being withdrawn by Mrs. Wyley, guests and host, over their coffee, considered the case of the Jockey Leon.

Briefly and clearly Oakfell stated the result of his examination of the law and the facts. In proof of Quillebert's guilty knowledge that he had not even the shadow of a claim of ownership, he read this extract from a certified copy of the deed signed by him and Poydre, the agent of the heirs of Queyrouze: "The oldest son of the said negress Olive, called Leon, is not included in the present sale, a condition without which the present sale would not take place and is void if the purchasers disregard it." And, as establishing Leon's right to freedom, he cited the article 3510 of the civil code:

"If a master suffer a slave to enjoy his liberty for 10 years during his residence in the state or for 20 years while out of it, he shall lose all right of action to recover possession of the slave unless the slave be a runaway or fugitive."

"This provision of the law," said Oakfell, "the distinct exception in the act of sale and Quillebert's perfidy in entrapping the unsuspecting boy have determined me, gentlemen, to institute suit in behalf of Leon for freedom, and I have felt that I should declare my purpose to those friends and neighbors whose judgement and esteem I value most."

All looked to Baldouine, who after a moment of silent thought confidently spoke their response:

"Your resolution increases our respect for you, Quillebert is a shameless demoralizer, an evil influence in the community. His chief gains have notoriously been from gambling and usury. His instincts are low, and his practices are scandals hurtful to our young men. This theft of a man from himself is the crowning disgrace he has put upon our parish. In undertaking to thwart and rebuke him you do a true service to the good people of Avoyelles, Mr. Oakfell, and shall have the support of all of us here."

"Not only our support, Mr. Horace," exclaimed Valsin, "but our protection also."

"The danger is not to me, but to Leon," Oakfell replied. "I fear that Quillebert will kill him outright in the rage into which the suit will throw him."

They found him at a sharp bend in the public road.

"Then," said Fyrth, whose presidency over sessions of the lynch court in the early days of the state had made his name a dread to evildoers and whose countenance testified a terrible courage, "he must in advance be warned that he cannot live 12 hours in Avoyelles afterward, and I suggest the priest as the proper person to notify him. Do you object, sir?" addressing Father Grhe.

"I do not," replied the latter, and the party dispersed.

As prearranged by Oakfell, the sheriff, charged with the service of the legal processes, called at the house of Father Grhe, and the latter accompanied him on the visit to Quillebert. They found him at a sharp bend in the public road skirting the Bayou Rouge, seated upon his horse and conversing with Laure Luncan, sole occupant of her grandmother's exaggerated buggy, to which was harnessed the colossal mule. Coming suddenly upon the two, they saw the girl quickly snatch from Quillebert's hand a small watch and long golden chain and furtively bestow them under the seat of the vehicle and were amused at her confused efforts to recover the loosened reins and drive on before they spoke.

"Pray do not be disturbed at this interruption of your tete-a-tete, made-moiselle," said the sheriff, doffing his hat. "I have but to deliver these papers to M. Quillebert and be off, with apologies for the intrusion." And he handed the documents to Quillebert, who received them mechanically, without so much as looking at the large written characters indorsed upon them.

"Before reading those papers, M. Quillebert, allow me to speak with you," said Father Grhe, riding near him and in an undertone communicating the particulars of the meeting at "L'Esperance" and the warning in the words of Fyrth.

In the struggle to suppress his anger Quillebert's face was that of a demon. It became knotted with swollen veins; his bloodshot eyes glared like a bated brute's; his heavy lips, though tightly pressed together, shook like storm swept waves of a muddy stream, and his fingers convulsively worked the papers they clutched into a crumpled and shapeless lump. Father Grhe turned his eyes away from the revolting spectacle, but Laure gazed upon it fascinated.

"The cowardly creoles join the bullying Americans in threatening a Frenchman with lynch law, and you, monsieur priest, are their herald, eh? That is the case?" at length Quillebert muttered hoarsely.

"It will only aggravate the situation to use insulting adjectives," answered Father Grhe. "Those citizens have but adopted a heroic mode of forestalling a possible and deplorable outcome of an appeal to the law in humanity's cause, and I have borne their message in the hope of preventing two murders. Mlle. Luncan, you seem to have the confidence of M. Quillebert." He accompanied these words with a significant look at the girl. "Advise him against his dangerous impulses."

Her face was instantly aflame, and her eyes became orbs of wrath, but she made no audible reply nor returned the bow of the priest and sheriff as they rode away.

Y. M. C. A. Pigskin Chasers Dealt Defeat to McKeever Academy Boys.

GAME WAS A GOOD ONE

Superior Team Work of Home Players Won Them the Contest — Moore Scored Two Touchdowns—Score Resulted 11 to 0.

The newly organized Y. M. C. A. football team made its initial appearance on the gridiron Saturday, and their performance was the best ever seen in this city. They met the strong McKeever academy team of Pittsburg and defeated them by the score of 11 to 0. The home team worked like clockwork, their interference was fine and they went through the line and around the ends of the visitors almost at will. Coach Armour made several changes in the lineup during the game in order to give all of his best players a chance. The changes, however, did not seem to affect the team work, as they continued to advance the ball even stronger during the latter part than they did in the first part of the game. The handling of the ball by the locals was clean and accurate, not a fumble being charged against them, but the visitors fumbled several times and a Y. M. C. A. player usually got the ball. Baker, Stephens and Swarbrick, the three new men secured by the locals, made their first appearance yesterday, and their work was one of the features of the game.

There is no doubt but East Liverpool now has the strongest football team in eastern Ohio, and their work during the balance of the season will be watched with interest, as their schedule includes the very best teams that could be secured.

Captain Armour won the toss and chose to defend the east goal, giving the visitors the kickoff. On the kickoff McLane got the ball and brought it back ten yards before he was stopped. The "guard back" formation was brought into play and Stoffel went through right tackle for ten yards, and on the second play he hit the same spot for ten yards more. J. Stevenson got four yards through left guard and Armour added one more through right tackle. Armour punted 35 yards to Fielding who fumbled the punt and Little fell on the ball. Moore made four yards around right end, Armour three yards through right tackle and Baker hit the left side of the line for one yard more. The guards were again called back and Stoffel gained three yards through right tackle. The Academy team then held for downs and secured possession of the ball.

Fielding circled right end for five yards. McElroy went through right tackle for ten yards and Williams gained one more through the same place. On the next pass the ball was fumbled and Baker fell on it. Brown took Holt's place at left tackle. Stoffel made one yard through right guard. Moore hit right tackle for five yards and on the next play hit the same place for three yards more.

Armour circled right end for eight yards and Little went around the left end for seven yards. Armour again passed the right end of the line for fifteen yards and on the next play Moore went the same road for twelve yards and a touchdown. The touchdown was made in the corner of the field and Armour kicked out to Baker who made a fair catch. Stoffel missed goal. Score 5 to 0.

On the kickoff Booth caught the ball and returned it ten yards before he was downed. The next play was one of the best of the game. The ball was passed back to Armour and quick as flash he circled right end for thirty-five yards before he was downed. Armour was again given the ball and made a yard through left tackle. Booth made four yards through right tackle and Moore hit the same place for three. Time was called with the ball on the visitors' fifteen yard line.

When the second half started Stephens was substituted for Brown at left tackle. Baker kicked off, Connor got the ball and was downed by Booth before he could move.

McElroy made three yards around left end and the ball was fumbled. Williams hit the center for two yards and McElroy got two yards at left tackle. McLane broke through and downed Williams before he could move. On the next play McKeever failed to gain and the ball went to Liverpool on downs.

Armour got four yards around right end, and Stoffel gained two more through right guard. Armour hit left tackle for four yards, and on the next play gained two more through the same place.

Moore went around right end for twenty yards and the second touchdown of the game. Baker kicked goal. Score 11 to 0.

York took Moore's place at left half. Fielding kicked off to McLane who returned the ball fifteen yards before he was stopped.

Y. M. C. A. did not make the required five yards on the next three plays, and the ball went to the visitors on downs. On a delayed pass Williams gained fifteen yards and was tackled by Stephens. McLane tackled McElroy back of the line for a loss of fifteen yards and on the next play Baker broke through and downed Williams for a loss of five more. Wheatley was substituted for Armour at full back.

Williams tried left end for one yard, and Delp hit the center for one yard more. Fielding punted to Woods who dropped the ball when he was tackled, and one of the visiting players secured it.

Fielding was again called on to punt but Burchard broke through, blocked the kick and Stephens fell on the ball. Wheatley went through right tackle for seven yards and York gained three more around right end.

Stephens hit right tackle for three yards and Stoffel got one more at right guard. Wheatley punted high in the air for ten yards and Woods secured the ball. Wheatley then circled right end for nine yards.

The visitors held for downs and Williams made forty-five yards around right end on a delayed pass. Swarbrick took J. Stevenson's place at right guard. On the next play the ball was fumbled. Woods secured it and ran down the field for sixty yards before he was tackled by Connor. Wheatley went around right end for thirteen yards, and on the next play made ten more through right tackle. Time was called with the ball on the visitors' twelve yard line. Y. M. C. A. advanced the ball 296 yards during the game as against 94 yards gained by the visitors. YALE CELEBRATES,

The Two Hundredth Anniversary of The Founding of The College.

SERVICES DEVOUT, AS IS FITTING

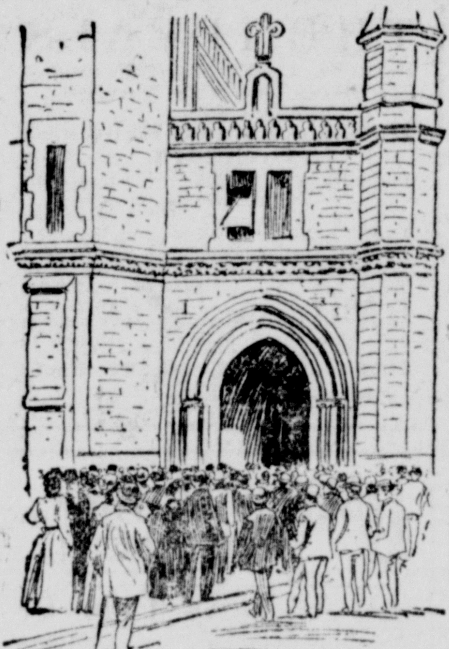

With the Traditions of the Old New England Days—Prayers, Reading of Scriptures and Sermons—President Roosevelt to Receive a Degree.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 21.—Yale university began Sunday the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of Yale college. The bi-centennial of the great institution of learning was ushered in with ceremonies essentially religious.

The services were performed in accord with the devout reverent traditions of the good old New England days when the little handful of clergymen gathered together and with prayerful supplications asked Divine blessing upon the institution. The old hymns were sung and powerful sermons were uttered.

The city was bedecked with Yale colors and evergreen, the stars and stripes being much used.

The principal streets had become archways of blue, adorned at intervals with pictures of President Roosevelt, who on Wednesday is to be Yale's guest and who on that day will become a son of Yale, when the university's honorary degree is conferred upon him.

From the simple school of 1701 Yale Sunday found herself a great university, developed through the years from a one-building institution down through her "brick row" to a campus, thence to a second campus, and now to a third, and stretching out in her departmental buildings to territory as great again.

Within Battell chapel, where the bi-centennial was inaugurated, the services participated in by an assemblage as imposing as the exercises were simple.

On the rostrum sat President Arthur T. H. Hadley. At his right was Rev. Joseph Twichell, D. D., of Hartford, the preacher of the bi-centennial sermon. To his left was Thomas G. Bennett, of the Yale corporation. Next to Dr. Twichell sat former President Timothy Dwight. On one end was Hon. Henry Howland, of New York; on the other Rev. Charles Ray Palmer, both fellows of the university corporation. All wore the gowns of their offices. Below in the choir stalls sat a picked choir of students. The body of the chapel was occupied in the center aisle by distinguished delegates and guests, who wore academic gowns with hoods of many colors.

The seats of the side aisles were filled with Yale graduates, while the galleries were reserved for ladies.

The service began at 10:30 a. m. A chant by the choir was followed by the Lord's Prayer. President Hadley read a lesson from the Scriptures, and after the "Te Deum" the vast congregation sang psalm LXV.

Rev. Joseph Hopkins Twichell, of Hartford, the senior fellow of the corporation, preached the sermon. The closing hymn was "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord," written by Rev. Timothy Dwight, D. D., LL. D., president of Yale college from 1795 to 1817. Then was sung the doxology and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Timothy Dwight, president of the university from 1886 to 1899.

Services In Other Churches.

Meanwhile special bi-centennial services were held in other churches of the city and special sermons were preached by Rev. Newman Smyth, D. D., in the Center church; Rev. Joseph Anderson, D. D., of Waterbury, in the United church; and Rev. Walton Wesley Battershall, D. D., of Albany, in Trinity church. All of these churches are located on the historic green adjacent to the college property and for many years the college commencement exercises were held in Center church.

The Rev. Walton W. Battershall, D. D., in the course of his address on "The Old Faith and the New Knowledge," said:

"The world today is facing problems which perplex it and appeal it, which start up from old savageries which it dreamed it had battered down with the veneers of its civilization, which shake the moral pillars of which its civilization has been built which confound its smooth-tongued prophets and one-eyed philosophers, who tell it that humanity for its order and well being and its development into happy and contented life needs belief neither in God nor the soul nor immortality, but only the spur of selfishness, the restraints of the police and prudence and the hope of clutching the prizes in the human scramble. If this doctrine should gain a large percentage of converts, like those who burrow and plot in subterranean Europe, like some of our recent importations, like the one who a month ago struck down the president and sent a wave of horror around the world, civilization would collapse like a house of cards. A man may think that he can fulfill his life without the church of Christ and the tremendous forces which it propagates in the conscience and conduct of the world. There will be crises in his history in which he will look outside of his curtained windows at the voice of the eternal behind the social moralities and the lamp of an immortal hope within the sepulchre.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock Rev. George Park Fisher, D. D., LL. D., professor of ecclesiastical history and dean of the Yale divinity school, delivered an address on the subject of "Yale University in its Relations to Theology and Missions."

Last evening at 8 o'clock, in Battell chapel, the college organist, Harry Benjamin Jepson, assistant professor of applied music, gave an organ recital.

Today will be devoted practically to ceremonies of official welcome.

PRESIDENT ATTENDED CHURCH.

Leaves Washington This Afternoon.

Platt Saw Him, but Situation Unchanged.

Washington, Oct. 21.—President Roosevelt will spend a day in Farmington, Conn., the summer home of his sister, Mrs. Cowles, before going to New Haven, where he is to have the degree of LL. D. conferred upon him by Yale university. Accompanied by Secretary Cortelyou, the president will leave Washington this afternoon, arriving in Farmington tomorrow morning.

Senator Platt, of New York, was at the White House Sunday afternoon and talked with the president regarding the federal patronage in the Empire state. It is said the situation regarding the principal offices over which there has been considerable discussion remains unchanged.

Last night Civil Service Commissioner Proctor was at the White House.

The president attended religious services at the Grace Reformed church as usual Sunday morning.

A Simple Disinfectant.

A simple disinfectant to use in a sick-room or in any room where a close, musty or sewer smell is noticed is to put some ground coffee on a shovel, a bit of camphor gum in the middle of it. Light the gum, which is nonexplosive and easily ignited, with a match and allow the coffee to burn with the gum. A refreshing and sanitary perfume is the result.

A SOLEMN DUTY

Rests Upon Every Republican Voter of Ohio This Year.

VICTORY SHOULD BE SWEEPING.

Democratic Effort Devoted to the Legislature in the Hope of Defeating Foraker and Gerrymandering the State.

If every Republican voter in the state of Ohio who has expressed himself in words or by actions in the past few weeks as sincerely sorrowing for the assassination of the President should go to the polls and vote that way, the endorsement of the McKinley administration, the encouragement to President Roosevelt to carry forward the good work left unfinished, would be so complete and overwhelming as to convince the world that Ohio is unflinching in its support of the McKinley policies.

It devolves upon Republicans to do this. No matter how many Democrats may take action of the same kind, that is a matter of voluntary choice with every such individual; but it is a solemn and imperative party duty of every Republican to make it as plain as possible, by his personal vote and influence and action, that the state of McKinley is true through and through to his successor.

There are votes enough, and the more of them the better; but not one of them will amount to anything unless it shall be put into the ballot box on the 5th of November for George K. Nash and the Republican ticket, and particularly for members of the house and senate of Ohio who will be sure to re-elect Senator Joseph B. Foraker.

The United States senate will need to be kept thoroughly Republican in order that there may be ample support for the policies of President Roosevelt, and that the plans begun by President McKinley, which his successor is pledged to complete, shall be carried forward without hindrance or obstruction. Every Republican believes that those plans are the best for the country, the best for the world, that they will advance America among the nations, and will prove of vast benefit. What use, then, is it to be a Republican and think such things, and not vote for them?

The legislature to be elected this year also may have it in its power to decide the complexion of the house of representatives of the United States congress in all ten years of the new decade. It has been the way with the Democracy of Ohio to gerrymander the state congressional districts at every opportunity given them by the neglect of the Republicans. Their state issue campaign is nothing but a mask to seize the senatorship and the legislature for another gerrymander.

Republican Ohio would be misrepresented by a Democratic majority of members of congress, by a Democratic rearrangement of the districts to make any other result impossible. Nothing but the neglect of Republicans to do their duty can give them this chance. Any Republican whose negligence aids them in accomplishing such result will have the cold comfort afterward of knowing that he was false to President McKinley, to President Roosevelt, and his own professed principles.

Will Ohio Republicans, by their staying at home or by failing to do their duty in their respective counties, and to vote for members of the house and senate of the general assembly, substitute for Joseph B. Foraker, senatorial leader, Tom Johnson, John R. McLean, or some one that the latter may name? Who will McLean name, according to his letters of late to Democratic candidates for the legislature?

Ohio can claim the distinction of having more varieties of Democrats than any state in the union.

Ohio will uphold the hands of President Roosevelt by her Republican majority.

REBEL PLOTS IN SAMAR FOILED.

Reinforcements Received There—Gen.

Smith Gives Orders That the Insurrection Must Be Hammered Out and Gen. Lukban Captured.

Manila, Oct. 21.—Owing to the vigilance of Lieutenant Thomas M. Bains, Jr., of the Ninth United States infantry, another slaughter of American troops by insurgents has been averted. It seems that Lieutenant Bains discovered a prisoner re-entering a cell at Carbiga, island of Samar, where several were confined, through a hole that had been let in the wall. An investigation showed a plan to fill the jail with bolomen and to call the guard, which would be necessary to get the door open, and then to attack the garrison. It also developed that the instigators were a priest and the presidente, both of whom have been arrested, together with several other prominent persons.

Other Plots Frustrated. Other attempts have been discovered, but fortunately frustrated, at Pambujan and other points in Samar. Several persons have been arrested in connection with these.

Reinforcements are being received at Samar. Three hundred and thirty marines, under Lieutenant Colonel Mancil C. Goodrell, have gone there on board the United States cruiser New York, and two battalions of the Twelfth infantry will start immediately for the same destination.

United States officers from other provinces that were supposed to be pacified have recently arrived in Manila and they say that the news of American disasters spread like wildfire among the natives, who scarcely attempt to conceal their delight.

The Manila constabulary discovered a large quantity of steel wagon springs which were being shipped to various districts. Investigation showed that these were to be used in manufacturing bolos.

The troops in Samar anticipate hard fighting. Brigadier General Jacob H. Smith, who is in command, has visited most of the ports and instructed the commanders that the insurrection must be hammered out and General Lukban, the insurgent leader, captured. Already the movement of troops has begun.

General Lacuna Complains.

General Lacuna, who surrendered last May, has complained to General Chaffee that the terms upon which he and his force surrendered have not been respected by the Americans. He exhibits a document signed by himself and General Frederick Funston, in which he and his force are granted immunity in respect of all acts committed contrary to the laws of war. Since this document was executed several of Lacuna's officers and men have been tried, condemned and sentenced to death for killing American prisoners. General Funston says that when it was signed he gave Lacuna orally to understand that the killing of American prisoners was excepted. Lacuna admits that something was said on the subject, but says no thorough understanding was reached, and he considers the written agreement binding.

SUCCESS IN OHIO.

Why an Overwhelming Republican Majority Is Needed.

Wall of the Democrats Because the Republicans Choose to Endorse the Policies of Their Dead Leader.

The Democratic press begins to plead piteously against the inevitable, declaring that the Republicans have no right to ask the voters of Ohio to remember the great Ohio Republican leader who has just laid down his duties as president of the United States, slain by an assassin because he was president. This is curious but characteristic of Democratic arguments. They talk about restricting the Ohio campaign to state issues alone, knowing full well that their success would be hailed by the Democratic party of the entire nation as a party success, and that after election, should they win, that would be proclaimed as a defeat for the principles and policies and administrations of President McKinley and President Roosevelt.

But the voters of Ohio have proved themselves time and again too intelligent to be caught with any such chaff. They know that Ohio is a mighty important part of the United States, and can not be cut off from the rest of the country. The citizens of this state realize that the real issue, the inseparable issue of the campaign, is the upholding or repudiating of all that McKinley did, or all that Roosevelt has undertaken to do, in carrying forward McKinley's work. Of all the states in the Union, Ohio is the last that can at this time fall so short of its duty to the principles and administration of President McKinley.

The results that he accomplished are before the people for their verdict. The work yet to be done is to be along the lines that he laid down, or in ways that he would have approved. All agree as individuals upon his greatness and worth as a man, but it was as president that he suffered, and it is as president that his policy must be approved or condemned by the people.

Particularly does this apply to the Republicans of Ohio. A very great duty devolves upon them—every man of them. Their numbers are enough to make a complete, yes overwhelming endorsement of President McKinley and encouragement of President Roosevelt. The state of McKinley, least of all, can afford to fail to do its utmost duty for his successor in the first election held after the assassination.

No Ohio Republican can afford to absent himself from the polls at this time. All the Democrats who desire to practically express their approval of the policies that have accomplished so much good are most welcome; but it is with Republicans first and most of all that the duty rests of an absolutely full vote. No absentees in Ohio on November 5th—no stay-at-homes!

Y. M. C. A. Pigskin Chasers Dealt Defeat to McKeever Academy Boys.

GAME WAS A GOOD ONE

Superior Team Work of Home Players Won Them the Contest — Moore Scored Two Touchdowns—Score Resulted 11 to 0.

The newly organized Y. M. C. A. football team made its initial appearance on the gridiron Saturday, and their performance was the best ever seen in this city. They met the strong McKeever academy team of Pittsburg and defeated them by the score of 11 to 0. The home team worked like clockwork, their interference was fine and they went through the line and around the ends of the visitors almost at will. Coach Armour made several changes in the lineup during the game in order to give all of his best players a chance. The changes, however, did not seem to affect the team work, as they continued to advance the ball even stronger during the latter part than they did in the first part of the game. The handling of the ball by the locals was clean and accurate, not a fumble being charged against them, but the visitors fumbled several times and a Y. M. C. A. player usually got the ball. Baker, Stephens and Swarbrick, the three new men secured by the locals, made their first appearance yesterday, and their work was one of the features of the game.

There is no doubt but East Liverpool now has the strongest football team in eastern Ohio, and their work during the balance of the season will be watched with interest, as their schedule includes the very best teams that could be secured.

Captain Armour won the toss and chose to defend the east goal, giving the visitors the kickoff. On the kickoff McLane got the ball and brought it back ten yards before he was stopped. The "guard back" formation was brought into play and Stoffel went through right tackle for ten yards, and on the second play he hit the same spot for ten yards more. J. Stevenson got four yards through left guard and Armour added one more through right tackle. Armour punted 35 yards to Fielding who fumbled the punt and Little fell on the ball. Moore made four yards around right end, Armour three yards through right tackle and Baker hit the left side of the line for one yard more. The guards were again called back and Stoffel gained three yards through right tackle. The Academy team then held for downs and secured possession of the ball.

Fielding circled right end for five yards. McElroy went through right tackle for ten yards and Williams gained one more through the same place. OAKLAND TEAM WON

In a Well Played Game With the Buckeyes at Columbian Park.

There was a goodly crowd of spectators at Columbian park Saturday afternoon to witness the foot ball game between the Oakland Athletic club and the West End Buckeyes, both of this city, in which the former team came out victorious by the large score of 32 to 0.

There was some brilliant playing done on both sides and throughout the game was strictly clean. Both sides were satisfied at the finish. McGaffick and Milhouser, for the Oakland, seemed to carry everything with them and C. Mountford, or the same team, would circle the ends for big gains with distressing frequency. The feature of the game was a 50-yard run by McGiffick for the first touchdown.

The playing of Bevington and Green for the Buckeyes, was exceptionally good.

Mackey, Cline and Green were subs for the Buckeyes.
